Nixon, Mexican Chief To Meet In California

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A big parade, pickets and a crowd of officials predict will reach 100,000 are expected to greet President Nixon and Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz in this seaside city today.

The two presidents and 700 VIP guests including former President Lyndon B. Johnson are gathering for a White House-style state dinner. Nixon is giving Diaz Ordaz tonight in a display of Mexican-American friendship.

Decorations, bleachers and welcoming signs were up and 65 marching units were poised for the parade, along with beauty queens and horse riders.

City officials have been working hard to make this a warm welcome with a big turnout and all the ceremonial trappings to celebrate California's bicentennial as well as the visit of the presidents.

Hundreds of free buses were put into service all over the county and down to the border town of Tijuana to bring visitors to this community of 16,000.

The normal 60-cent toll on the new $47 million Coronado Bay Bridge was cut to 10 cents or one peso for the day. Mexican currency was being accepted for the first time on the span that links San Diego and the Coronado Peninsula.

Nixon's bubbletop limousine was brought in for his 1½-mile motorcade, timed to follow the parade after nighttime arrival ceremonies at North Island Naval Air Station.

Nixon planned to helicopter from the Western White House at San Clemente some 60 miles away after a morning meeting with the six members of the Senate Finance Committee.

He is seeking the committee's aid in moving his stalled family assistance welfare plan to a Senate vote and invited them to come out for the dinner at the 82-year-old, Victorian-style, 400-room Hotel del Coronado here.

Educators Meeting Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 15th Annual Joint Conference sponsored by Ohio educators will be held in Veterans Memorial Auditorium Nov. 10-12, it was announced today.

The session is sponsored by the Ohio School Boards Association, the Buckeye Association of School Administrators, the Ohio Association of School Business Officials and the Ohio Department of Education.

Three nationally-known speakers have been scheduled for the program. Ralph Nader, nationally known consumer advocate, will address the third general session at 9 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 12.

Dr. Walter Judd, former Minnesota congressman and adviser to several presidents and the keynote at the 1960 Republican National Convention in Chicago will address the first general session at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10.

Earl W. Jones, executive vice president to S. I. Hayakawa, President of San Francisco State College, will address the second session at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 10.

3 Persons Shot Near Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man and two women were shot and wounded early today in the western Hamilton County home of one of the women.

Chester Lee Montgomery, 37, was taken into custody by county police in connection with the shooting.

One of the women wounded was his estranged wife, Wanda, 28, and the other was Mrs. Montgomery's mother, Mrs. Maude Mills, 50, of Jonesville, Va. The wounded man was identified as Robert Pickett, 33, of suburban Deer Park.

Seek 4 Young Men In Wisconsin Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nationwide search has been launched for four young men charged in the bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center at Madison, Wis. One man died and three were injured in the blast.

One of the four charged in the Aug. 24 bombing was linked by the FBI to Students for a Democratic Society. Three had attended the University of Wisconsin where the research center was located. The fourth was identified as a high school dropout.

The FBI said fugitive warrants and charges of sabotage, destruction of government property and conspiracy have been filed against Karleton Lewis Armstrong, 22; his brother, Dwight Alan Armstrong, 19; David Sylvan Fine, 18, and Leo Frederick Burt, 22.

An FBI agent investigating the blast filed an affidavit Wednesday in Madison, saying the Armstrong brothers had told a friend they had a large cache of explosives and planned a series of bombings.

In the affidavit, agent George P. Baxtrum Jr. said the Armstrongs told the friend they were responsible for the Jan. 1 bombing of the Badger Army Ammunitions Plant. Authorities said an undetonated bomb was found on the grounds of the ammo plant.

Karleton Armstrong rented a trailer and bought 100 gallons of gasoline Aug. 16, the agent quoted a Madison service station employee as saying. According to the document, another man reported the elder brother purchased 1,700 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer three days later.

Ohio To Sue For Recovery Of Loans If Facts Warrant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown told the Franklin County grand jury Wednesday he would sue to recover $12 million in loans made by the state treasurer's office "if the facts and the law indicate this should be done."

Brown said his office is "in constant communications with certain federal agencies whose investigation parallels your own."

He said information from these agencies would be used before he decided what action would be taken.

The special grand jury investigating state investment practices called on Brown and Treasurer John D. Herbert to recover the controversial loans of $4 million to Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc. and $8 million to King Resources, Inc. Auditor Roger Cloud has contended the loans were illegal.

Four Seasons currently is in reorganizational bankruptcy.

King Resources is financially troubled, but said Wednesday it believes it can overcome its problems and resume profitable operations.

The company said it lost more than $15.6 million in the first half of 1970 and has initiated a $7 million a year cost reduction plan. It also has escrowed $3 million in a bank to make a 20 per cent payment on all accounts processed by July 28.

The company said it would continue to pay on the principal and interest of outstanding debts in regular intervals over the next two years.

Ohio's loans to King Resources include one for $3 million, due April 17, 1972, and another for $5 million, due April 27 of the same year. A $2 million loan to Four Seasons was due July 7 and two $1 million loans are due March 9, 1972, and March 23, 1972.

The loans to King Resources were among five loans totaling $28.9 million the state has asked be paid back immediately either because they put the state over the $50 million investment limit allowed by law or because they exceeded the 270-day limit on prime paper loans.

Brown said there still is question about whether the loans were, in fact, illegal.

No Wrongdoing Is Found By Solons Against War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has told Sen. Barry Goldwater it found no wrongdoing on the part of antiwar senators who raised nearly $500,000 to rally public support for legislation designed to end U.S. participation in the Indochina war.

In a letter to the Arizona Republican, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said the department was "unable to make a determination" that federal laws were violated in raising and spending the money.

Goldwater, who asked for a legal opinion on the propriety of fund-raising activities of the Committee To End The War, was not immediately available for comment.

Kleindienst, who was Goldwater's 1964 presidential campaign manager, said the department's investigation had turned up no evidence of wrongdoing "based on the facts that are available at this time."

A Justice Department spokesman read excerpts of the letter to a reporter but refused to release the full text.

The Committee To End The War, a coalition of dovish senators and others in the antiwar movement, sponsored a televised appeal last May for money to push the so-called McGovern-Hatfield "amendment to end the war." The committee's advertising urged citizens to voice their support for the amendment by writing to their senators and congressmen.

The amendment requiring withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam by the end of 1971 was defeated Tuesday in the Senate.

Senator George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who along with Senator Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., was the amendment's principal sponsor, placed a statement in the Aug. 11 issue of the Congressional Record showing that the appeal had raised $492,000. By that date, McGovern said, the committee had spent $280,000 on television, radio and newspaper advertising.

Goldwater had asked the department to determine whether the committee had violated either conflict of interest laws or tax laws. The hawkish senator also sought an opinion on whether the committee should register as a lobbying group.

SCHOOL enrollment is still growing in the city schools according to information received today from Superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

Enrollment figures reached a total of 3,656 today. This is 180 more students than were enrolled during the final enumeration last spring in all eight schools. Jacobs noted the increase was expected to continue at a slower pace now.

CIRCLEVILLE'S firemen are going into competition with Lawrence Welk. According to the men on duty at the station today, their new foam fire fighting equipment will put the great "Champagne Man" to shame.

The equipment was purchased today after Council approved the expenditure at their Tuesday evening session. They haven't decided between rock or hillbilly music, but whichever they choose it's sure to be "hot."

WHAT'S in a name Deception — as in the upcoming holiday misnomer. Rather than a day of labor, so named, Monday has been a long-awaited holiday for cessation from work. All city, county, state and federal offices will close all day Monday in observance of the legal holiday. There will be no deliveries from the Circleville Post Office. The building lobby will remain open during regularly scheduled hours. Offices in the city and county courthouses will close for the day along with other local businesses. The Social Security office in Chillicothe, the local Selective Service Board and all state liquor stores announced they would be closed Monday. Area school students will have an added day of freedom from the classrooms before resuming their schedules Tuesday.

New Hampshire Reports Snowfall

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP) — The first snow east of the Rockies since last winter fell on the top of Mt. Washington Wednesday.

The accumulation was "negligible," a weather station employee said, but the roofs of buildings atop the mountain were "well plastered with frost," he said.

Lowest temperature at the station this week was 24.

Vinton County Suspect Still Not Located

McARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services were to be held this afternoon for Vinton County Sheriff Harold Steele, while the search continued for the man charged in his slaying.

Between 300 and 400 volunteers have spread a dragnet through southern Hocking and northern Vinton counties for Oliver Mills, who once spent two years hiding out in the same area.

The manhunt began after Steele was killed by at least two shotgun blasts Monday when he went to serve a warrant on Mills. A deputy was wounded.

Jackson County Sheriff Hile Phylle said Mills disappeared into the rugged area for two years in the early 1950s, when he was wanted in connection with cutting another man in an argument.

Vinton County Commissioners and the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association have offered $1,000 for information leading to Mills' arrest. Mills has been charged with first-degree murder.

Records show Mills served time in an Ohio prison 16 years ago on a grand larceny conviction. He is believed to be armed with a high-powered rifle and is considered extremely dangerous.

Bruce, Thuy Meet In Paris

PARIS (AP) — America's new chief delegate to the Vietnam peace talks finally met North Vietnam's chief representative at the conference table today as Hanoi's Xuan Thuy ended a nine-month boycott.

Thuy told newsmen as he entered the 82nd weekly session he was "ready to listen" to U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce and "prepared to discern if there is anything new."

But Xuan Thuy declared the only way the talks can progress is for the United States to renounce "its policy of prolonging and widening its war of aggression" and abandon what he called its neocolonialist aims in South Vietnam.

Thuy, in his first appearance since December, asserted that North Vietnam remains firmly behind the Viet Cong's peace proposals which include a unilateral withdrawal by the United States from Vietnam and to abandon the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. The United States has rejected these proposals.

Bruce said in his statement at the meeting that the single essential condition for a negotiated peace is for South Vietnam to determine its own future without outside interference.

"Our respective views—yours and ours—have differed widely on how to achieve this one essential condition," Bruce said.

Then the new American envoy stated, "Let us avoid propaganda and harsh language. Let us set aside preconceptions to serious discussions. Let us set aside demands for one-sided action."

Thuy said before the meeting — the 82nd — he had come to listen, ready "to discern if there is anything new" in what Bruce had to say.

If there was anything new in Bruce's statement it was the tone. The American proposals have not changed.

The ambassador's appeal for using "all the means available to us" appeared as a bid for secret talks with Thuy.

Private, top-level meetings on the sidelines — interrupted for more than a year — are viewed as the best means of conducting genuine negotiations.

Legion Ends Meet Today

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Members of the American Legion, praised by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as the nation's true peace-makers, end their national convention today.

Legionnaires hear a speech by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., present Fourth Estate awards and elect officers in concluding their 52nd national convocation.

The Fourth Estate awards go to James G. Stahlman, president and publisher of the Nashville Banner, and Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor and publisher of the Tulsa Tribune.

Agnew, who returned this week from a tour of five Asian nations, flew into Portland from San Clemente, Calif., Wednesday, stayed an hour to address the legion, then left for Austin, Tex., where he reported on Southeast Asia to former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He continued on to Washington, D.C.

"The spirit the legion represents is what has kept America strong—and what has kept the peace," Agnew said.

Worker Usage Of Drugs Grows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Drug usage is so widespread among both white and blue-collar workers that it does little good to fire them, two researchers say. Their replacements may have a similar problem.

"Drugs are often a way of life for young executives," Carol Kurtis, a New York drug expert, told a workshop for representatives of 90 San Francisco area firms Wednesday.

She and Dr. Stephen Pittel of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, who has done three years of drug research in the Haight-Ashbury district, said companies must set up programs to help employees.

Attending the seminar were representatives of such corporations as Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Bank of America, Pacific Telephone and Southern Pacific.

"Any company that hires a large number of young employees, and has a high turnover rate, will have this problem," Miss Kurtis said.

Miss Kurtis said her work in New York with 80 major corporations and further research throughout the eastern United States revealed a 20 per cent impairment of employee efficiency because of the use of such drugs as marijuana, LSD, heroin, amphetamines and barbiturates as well as nicotine and alcohol.

She is an editor and researcher for Research Institute of America, a New York consulting firm, and the author of "Problem."

Pittel estimated 30 to 50 per cent of San Francisco business employees between the ages of 18 to 30 have tried marijuana.

He said drug usage is a crutch that often results in "permanent deferral of problems."

"It is a turning away instead of developing inner strength to handle problems," he said.

He suggested that each company department should have a "supervisor with good objective knowledge of drugs, whom people can come to, without fear, for help."

In Mississippi and Louisiana school officials said it would be weeks before they could produce figures on integration.

And in Georgia school officials complained of administrative headaches and high absenteeism caused by massive new classroom integration.

But there was uneventful integration of large numbers of other Deep South districts as public schools opened under orders to abolish separate schools for whites and blacks.

Despite boycotts and a parallel surge of private school openings President Nixon said he was pleased.

"As schools have opened in many parts of the South in recent days" the President said Wednesday "the nation has seen hundreds of communities achieve the transition from a dual to a unitary school system smoothly, peacefully and successfully."

He said the past few days which he earlier said would bring the most meaningful integration of the past 10 years were a "very difficult and very delicate time."

Public Report To Be Made Soon By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly today told the Soviet Union and Egypt to quit violating the Mideast standstill cease-fire agreement.

At the same time, U.S. officials were preparing a statement which would publicly acknowledge evidence of an anti-aircraft missile buildup on the Egyptian side of the Suez truce zone, contrary to the cease-fire terms.

The U.S. aim is to prevent the cease-fire from breaking down and to promote the lagging Arab-Israeli peace talk.

Instruction to make representation to the Soviet and the Egyptian against truce violations were said to have been sent from Washington Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and to Minister Donald Bergus in Cairo.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco also met here late last night with Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin.

The Israelis, charging the Egyptians with cheating on the ceasefire deal, have kept their envoy to the U.S.-supervised peace talks home for a week while weighing what to do.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird gave U.S. reassurance at a news conference Wednesday that the United States will not allow the Mideast military balance to swing against Israel.

Laird also said U.S. arms shipments to Israel are continuing, and he indicated American willingness to supply Israel with replacements for F4 Phantoms that might be lost in future combat. A delivery of 50 Phantoms to Israel is just being completed.

The Israelis also were said to be pressing for a public U.S. statement admitting that intelligence has detected a buildup in Soviet-supplied missiles in the Egyptian truce zone.

The United States, as sponsor and watchdog of the peace plan, has been taking pictures from high-flying U2 planes. In an Aug. 19 statement, it said the evidence did not conclusively back Israel's initial allegations of Egyptian violations in the hours just after the truce began Aug. 8.

A Washington statement acknowledging the new findings, in the Israeli view, would bolster faith in the policing of the ceasefire.

63 GI's Killed In Vietnam This Week

SAIGON (AP) — Sixty-three Americans were killed in action last week in Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced but its total did not include 28 others killed when a helicopter was shot down last Wednesday.

The 63 dead were 11 more than the American battle death toll the week before. The command said American battlefield deaths for the past nine weeks total 623, the lowest for a nine-week period in 4½ years—since 621 U.S. troops were reported killed between Dec. 19, 1965, and Feb. 19, 1966.

Last week's toll included only three of the 31 Americans killed in the helicopter crash south of Da Nang because only three of the bodies had been identified by midnight last Saturday.

Twelve more bodies have been identified this week and will be included in this week's toll, to be announced next Thursday, and the other 16 will be added to the total of the week in which they are identified.

The casualty summary also said 585 U.S. troops were wounded in action last week, a considerable increase over the 358 wounded two weeks ago.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 264 of its troops were killed last week, up slightly from 247 the week before, and 537 were wounded. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,284 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, compared to 1,093 the week before.

Little fighting was reported today in Vietnam or Cambodia, but American B52 bombers flew a sixth day of saturation raids against North Vietnamese supply routes from Laos into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

From Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported that Cambodian troops launched a fresh counterattack to recapture the district headquarters at Srang and found that the North Vietnamese force which captured it five days ago had folded up its elaborate defenses and withdrawn.

Three battalions of Cambodians assaulted the town, firing as they moved in, but ran into only light opposition. Reports from the battleground 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh indicated total government casualties in the five days of fighting were about 25 to 30 killed and

SAIGON (AP) — Sixty-three Americans were killed in action last week in Vietnam, the U.S. Command announced but its total did not include 28 others killed when a helicopter was shot down last Wednesday.

The 63 dead were 11 more than the American battle death toll the week before. The U.S. Command said American battlefield deaths for the past nine weeks total 623, the lowest for a nine-week period in 1 1/2 years—since 621 U.S. troops were reported killed between Dec. 19, 1965, and Feb. 19, 1966.

Last week's toll included only three of the 31 Americans killed in the helicopter crash south of Da Nang because only three of the bodies had been identified by midnight last Saturday. Twelve more bodies have been identified this week and will be included in this week's toll, to be announced next Thursday, and the other 16 will be added to the total of the week in which they are identified.

The casualty summary also said 585 U.S. troops were wounded in action last week, a considerable increase over the 358 wounded two weeks ago.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 264 of its troops were killed last week, up slightly from 247 the week before, and 537 were wounded. The U.S. Command said allied forces killed 1,284 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, compared to 1,063 the week before.

Little fighting was reported today in Vietnam or Cambodia, but American B52 bombers flew a sixth day of saturation raids against North Vietnamese supply routes from Laos into Cambodia and South Vietnam.

From Phnom Penh, Associated Press correspondent John T. Wheeler reported that Cambodian troops launched a fresh counterattack to recapture the district headquarters at Srang and found that the North Vietnamese force which captured it five days ago had folded up its elaborate defenses and withdrawn.

Three battalions of Cambodians assaulted the town, firing as they moved in, but ran into only light opposition. Reports from the battleground 30 miles southwest of Phnom Penh indicated total government casualties in the five days of fighting were about 25 to 30 killed and

PARIS (AP) — America's new chief delegate to the Vietnam peace talks finally met North Vietnam's chief representative at the conference table today as Hanoi's Xuan Thuy ended a nine-month boycott.

Thuy told newsmen as he entered the 82nd weekly session he was "ready to listen" to U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce and "prepared to discern if there is anything new."

But Xuan Thuy declared the only way the talks can progress is for the United States to renounce "its policy of prolonging and widening its war of aggression" and abandon what he called its neo-colonialist aims in South Vietnam.

Thuy, in his first appearance since December, asserted that North Vietnam remains firmly behind the Viet Cong's peace proposals which include a unilateral withdrawal by the United States from Vietnam and to abandon the South Vietnamese government of President Nguyen Van Thieu. The United States has rejected these proposals.

Bruce said in his statement at the meeting that the single essential condition for a negotiated peace is for South Vietnam to determine its own future without outside interference.

"Our respective views—yours and ours—have differed widely on how to achieve this one essential condition," Bruce said.

Then the new American envoy stated, "Let us avoid propaganda and harsh language. Let us set aside preconditions to serious discussions. Let us set aside demands for one-sided action."

Thuy said before the meeting — the 82nd — he had come to listen, ready "to discern if there is anything new" in what Bruce had to say.

If there was anything new in Bruce's statement it was the tone. The American proposals have not changed.

The ambassador's appeal for using "all the means available to us" appeared as a bid for secret talks with Thuy.

Private, top-level meetings on the sidelines — interrupted for more than a year — are viewed as the best means of conducting genuine negotiations.

Legion Ends Meet Today

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Members of the American Legion, praised by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as the nation's true peace-makers, end their national convention today.

Legionnaires hear a speech by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., present Fourth Estate awards and elect officers in concluding their 52nd national convocation.

The Fourth Estate awards go to James G. Stahlman, president and publisher of the Nashville Banner, and Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor and publisher of the Tulsa Tribune.

Agnew, who returned this week from a tour of five Asian nations, flew into Portland from San Clemente, Calif., Wednesday, stayed an hour to address the legion, then left for Austin, Tex., where he reported on Southeast Asia to former President Lyndon B. Johnson. He continued on to Washington, D.C.

"The spirit the legion represents is what has kept America strong—and what has kept the peace," Agnew said.

Worker Usage Of Drugs Grows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Drug usage is so widespread among both white and blue-collar workers that it does little good to fire them, two researchers say. Their replacements may have a similar problem.

"Drugs are often a way of life for young executives," Carol Kurtis, a New York drug expert, told a workshop for representatives of 90 San Francisco area firms Wednesday.

She and Dr. Stephen Pittel of San Francisco's Mt. Zion Hospital, who has done three years of drug research in the Haight-Ashbury district, said companies must set up programs to help employees.

Attending the seminar were representatives of such corporations as Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Bank of America, Pacific Telephone and Southern Pacific.

"Any company that hires a large number of young employees, and has a high turnover rate, will have this problem," Miss Kurtis said.

Miss Kurtis said her work in New York with 80 major corporations and further research throughout the eastern United States revealed a 20 per cent impairment of employee efficiency because of the use of such drugs as marijuana, LSD, heroin, amphetamines and barbiturates as well as nicotine and alcohol.

She is an editor and researcher for Research Institute of America, a New York consulting firm, and the author of "Problem."

Pittel estimated 30 to 50 per cent of San Francisco business employees between the ages of 18 to 30 have tried marijuana.

He said drug usage is a crutch that often results in "permanent deferral of problems."

"It is a turning away instead of developing inner strength to handle problems," he said.

He suggested that each company department should have a "supervisor with good objective knowledge of drugs, whom people can come to, without fear, for help."

Integration Continues In South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only 25 whites of 359 assigned were among the hundreds of blacks when the formerly all-black George Washington Carver High School opened for the fall term in Montgomery, Ala.

In Richmond, Va., a 14-year-old white girl attending a predominantly black school said: "The only reason I came here was to keep my mother from being locked up."

In Mississippi and Louisiana school officials said it would be weeks before they could produce figures on integration.

And in Georgia school officials complained of administrative headaches and high absenteeism caused by massive new classroom integration.

But there was uneventful integration of large numbers of other Deep South districts as public schools opened under orders to abolish separate schools for whites and blacks.

Despite boycotts and a parallel surge of private school openings President Nixon said he was pleased.

"As schools have opened in many parts of the South in recent days" the President said Wednesday "the nation has seen hundreds of communities achieve the transition from a dual to a unitary school system smoothly, peacefully and successfully."

He said the past few days which he earlier said would bring the most meaningful integration of the past 10 years were a "very difficult and very delicate time."

Dayton City Manager Takes New Position

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Dayton, Ohio's assistant city manager, Nicholas M. Meiszer, 36, has announced he will leave the post next month to become Forsyth County manager here. Meiszer, a native of Cincinnati, has been in Dayton since 1968.

Public Report To Be Made Soon By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States reportedly today told the Soviet Union and Egypt to quit violating the Mideast standstill cease-fire agreement.

At the same time, U.S. officials were preparing a statement which would publicly acknowledge evidence of an anti-aircraft missile buildup on the Egyptian side of the Suez truce zone, contrary to the cease-fire terms.

The U.S. aim is to prevent the cease-fire from breaking down and to promote the lagging Arab-Israeli peace talks.

Instruction to make representation to the Soviet and the Egyptian against truce violations were said to have been sent from Washington Wednesday night to Ambassador Jacob Beam in Moscow and to Minister Donald Bergus in Cairo.

Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco also met here late last night with Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin.

The Israelis, charging the Egyptians with cheating on the ceasefire deal, have kept their envoy to the U.S.-supervised peace talks home for a week while weighing what to do.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird gave U.S. reassurance at a news conference Wednesday that the United States will not allow the Mideast military balance to swing against Israel.

Laird also said U.S. arms shipments to Israel are continuing, and he indicated American willingness to supply Israel with replacements for F4 Phantoms that might be lost in future combat. A delivery of 50 Phantoms to Israel is just being completed.

The Israelis also were said to be pressing for a public U.S. statement admitting that intelligence has detected a buildup in Soviet-supplied missiles in the Egyptian truce zone.

The United States, as sponsor and watchdog of the peace plan, has been taking pictures from high-flying U2 planes. In an Aug. 19 statement, it said the evidence did not conclusively back Israel's initial allegations of Egyptian violations in the hours just after the truce began Aug. 8.

A Washington statement acknowledging the new findings, in the Israeli view, would bolster faith in the policing of the ceasefire.

Graduation Set At OSU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University will hold its summer commencement in St. John Arena on the campus at 9 a.m. Friday with 55 seniors in a class of 1,863 graduates receiving their degrees with honors or distinction.

Eighteen students will be graduated summa cum laude—with highest honors. Highest cumulative grade average among these is a transfer student from England, Mrs. Maurine Lippert now of Lancaster.

She will receive her bachelor of arts degree in the College of Arts and Sciences with a 3.94 average for her 103 hours academic work at OSU. She came to OSU in autumn quarter, 1968, from Salford University in England.

John A. Volpe, U.S. Secretary of Transportation, will be the commencement speaker. He will receive a doctor of public administration honorary degree.

Other honorary degrees will go to Vincent G. Dethier, Princeton University professor of zoology; Frederick V. Hunt, Harvard University professor of physics; Fritz P. Lowe, Ohio State Institute of Polar Studies; Wilbur J. Cohen, dean of University of Michigan's School of Education; and Mary E. Switzer of Washington, D.C., vice president of the World Rehabilitation Fund.

The Joseph Sullivan Medal will go to Dr. John D. Kraus, OSU professor of electrical engineering and radio astronom-

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Projects for science fairs, go-fones, must be planned well in advance. In the children's department of the library students will find many books which will help them select, perform, and present their entries.

Recently there has been a growing interest in carnivorous plants. "Plants That Eat Animals" by Linna Bentley, presents a fascinating discussion of these botanical phenomena. There are, in all, only twelve which are able to use animals as food. They have special characteristics which enable them to function this way: bait and a trap. In addition, they can dissolve small animals, absorb the food, and reset the trap. These systems are described in detail, and clear illustrations by Colin Threadgall are in themselves self-explanatory.

For the younger inquiring mind, "When Water Animals Are Babies" by Elizabeth and Charles Schwartz is a good introductory volume. It covers water creatures from clams to penguins and lists many which are familiar to children of this area. Bass, geese, guppies, and wigglers are some. Soft colors are used in the pleasing illustrations.

Using the period from April through September, "A Snake Lover's Dairy" by Barbara Brenner includes suggestions for finding and housing a snake collection. Its diary form is free and camouflages the strong study outline of the book. Also, it demonstrates the scientific method of record keeping. Many excellent photographs are presented as well as a glossary, a bibliography, and a list of herpetological organizations (reptile lovers' clubs). This excellent book is written for everyone above the age of eight.

Closely related to the above mentioned volume is "Snails" by Dorothy and Nils Hogner. In a different format it describes ways for gathering and housing a collection.

"It Works Like This" is a "collection of machines" from "Nature and Science Magazine." Budding young inventors can learn about such relatively simple gadgets as fountain pens, spray cans, and faucets, as well as sophisticated machines like refrigerators and tape recorders. General topics are appliances, measurement, transportation, and photography.

In addition to books on specific scientific inquiry, the library stocks many general volumes such as "Your Science Fair Project," "Setting Up a Science Project" and "One Hundred and One Science Experiments."

'Sound Of 70' Is Theme Of Band Preview

The theme of the 1970 Band Preview scheduled 8 p.m. Friday at the CHS football field is "The Sounds of the 70s."

Circleville fans will have a preview of the junior high band, the 1970 football team, the senior high band and the majorettes.

The Junior High band under the direction of Clifford Kerns will combine with the senior band under the direction of Gary Dean to give the audience an outstanding show.

In addition the program will include the first appearance of the new CHS stage band. The group will play such numbers as "The Horse" "Fever" "New Generation" and "Walk Wild."

The senior band will feature the 1970 majorettes and will play the following selections: "Drum Fanfare" "Band Fanfare" "Marching Trumpets Ole" "Spinning Wheel" and "Soul Step."

The football coaching staff will be introduced and in turn will give the fans a "mini-view" of the gridgers.

twice that many seriously wounded. The Cambodian commander claimed 500 to 600 enemy killed or wounded but this was an estimate and probably highly inaccurate.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported 28 enemy rocket and mortar attacks across South Vietnam, from 8 a.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. today with one American killed and 13 wounded. Another seven Americans were killed and 28 wounded in scattered fighting, booby trap incidents and the explosion of a Marine F4 fighter-bomber that caught fire while it was being refueled at Da Nang Air Base.

The U.S. Command announced today that the Army's 35th Engineer Battalion is being deactivated as part of President Nixon's cutback of 50,000 American troops in Vietnam. The deactivation will result in a reduction of about 810 personnel spaces, the command said.

As usual, only troops who have completed most of their 12-month tour will return to the United States. The rest will be reassigned to other units in South Vietnam.

Local Grangers Receive Top Honors At Fair

All entries from Pickaway County Granges received top honors in the finals held at the Ohio State Fair last week in the Arts and Crafts Building at the exposition.

The Salt Creek Valley Grange Chorus received fifth place in the state competition. Accompanist for the group was Bill Rihl as they sang "In the Garden" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Orban Burchwell, of Scioto Grange, tied for third place in the instrumental solo division. She played a piano solo "Rustles of Spring."

La'er in the morning a second place in the vocal duet was won by Betty Bolender and Paul Dunkle who sang "Tell Me Why" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." They were accompanied by Darlene Collins. All three were representatives of the Pickaway County Youth Grange Organization.

In the vocal solo division, Paul Dunkle won the first place award for the state title. He competed against seven other soloists for the award and will have the chance for the "Best of Show" given by the judges for a winner to attend the national finals to be held at the National Grange Convention in Boise, Idaho later in the year. Accompanying the soloist was Patricia Schleich who participated in the state finals in 1968.

All entries in the state finals had won district contests held in June throughout the state. Winners on the state level will appear at the state convention to be held in Akron in October.

Tate Defendant's 'Pains' Said Mostly Constipation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defendant Susan Atkins says she has been in constant pain at the Sharon Tate murder trial. A doctor says it's probably just anxiety.

The judge, after listening to the defendant and the doctor Wednesday, said of Miss Atkins: "She's articulate she's lucid and she's apparently perfectly healthy." He ordered the trial resumed.

Miss Atkins, 21, is one of three young women followers on trial with Charles M. Manson, 35, chief of a nomadic hippie-style "family," on charges of murder-conspiracy in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others.

Court was recessed Monday and Tuesday while Miss Atkins was hospitalized for tests and treatment of the pains which she said first occurred Friday.

Public Report

Wednesday about the new evidence, which was said to have been reviewed by President Nixon and his top advisors Tuesday at San Clemente, Calif.

Premier Golda Meir and her Cabinet met again today to consider the question as Israel issued its n-n'h complaint charging more Egyptian movement of anti-aircraft missiles into the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

The sources said continued abstention from negotiations would be aimed at appeasing Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who some Israelis believe will quit the Cabinet if Ambassador Yosef Tekoah returns to the talks with U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring before the United States gives public support to Israel's charges.

"The defense minister is not making it easy for Golda," wrote columnist Yoel Marcus in the newspaper Haaretz. "He has given to understand that 'his is for him a matter of principle, and that if his stand is not accepted he can no longer bear responsibility for defense policy.'"

Tekoah returned to Jerusalem last week after only one day of talks, and so far there has been no sign of his returning to New York.

First National Named In Damage Suit

Circleville First National Bank has been named defendant in a $202,100 suit filed in Ross County Common Pleas Court.

Charges were filed against the bank by Harold White Sr., Chillicothe. White is asking the amount for damages incurred when the bank filed suit against him in June of 1968.

In the earlier case, the First National asked for $20,000 on unpaid promissory notes. The court there ruled in White's favor at a hearing held Sept., 1969.

White's suit claims injury to his credit reputation caused by the bank's petition. The Chillicothe man also cites mental suffering, physical discomfort and injury to his reputation as the cause for his damage suit against the bank.

White has asked $100,000 damages each for punitive and general damages and $2,100 for special damages. He has requested a jury hearing on his cause.

Truck Hoist Stolen In Williamsport

Curtis Payne of Williamsport notified the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department of the theft of a hoist from his truck.

He said he had parked the truck at a residence on the Williamsport-Chillicothe Pike on Aug. 20 and when he returned Aug. 25 the hoist, valued at $75 was missing.

She was led into court Wednesday sobbing and clutching her side.

At midmorning she arose, breaking into testimony, and cried: "Get me out of here! I'm hurting bad!"

With tears streaming down her face, she told the judge: "Your honor, if you don't get me out of this courtroom I'll start screaming . . . I can't take it any longer." She was half-carried from court by two marshals.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older recessed court, summoned the doctor who had examined Miss Atkins, then ordered a hearing on her health.

At the hearing, Dr. Margaret McCarron, assistant medical director of the Los Angeles County - USC Medical Center said she and other doctors examined Miss Atkins in the jail ward.

She said tests revealed only that Miss Atkins "was quite constipated." She was treated, and the problem was remedied, said the doctor.

"I think she is having some pain from anxiety, and she is interpreting it as being in her abdomen," said Dr. McCarron.

She recommended that Miss Atkins take tranquilizers and vitamin pills for the trial's duration.

Earlier, police chemist Joseph Granado testified that he compared samples of Miss Atkins' hair with strands found on bloody clothing dumped in a canyon near the Tate home, and found a number of similarities.

Motorist Attempts To Prevent Crash Collides With Pole

A 20-year-old Mt. Sterling woman was cited in an auto accident Wednesday which caused heavy damage to the other vehicle involved but none to hers.

Wilma K. Snyder was cited by investigating Highway Patrolmen for failure to yield when she caused a one-car collision on the CCC Highway yesterday evening.

The Mt. Sterling woman was stopped on Circleville - London Northern Road behind a pickup at the intersection with the CCC route. When the pickup pulled out into the northbound lane, Miss Snyder proceeded to turn south into the path of another auto driven by a Columbus man, George J. Vois.

Twenty-year-old Veits applied his brakes to avoid a collision and went off the road into a fence, coming to stop against a utility pole. Damage to his 1967 model car was estimated at $700. Neither driver was injured.

Circleville Bible College Says "Thanks"

(I Thess. 5-18)

We at Circleville Bible College wish to express our sincere appreciation to the business men who have granted employment to our students.

Approximately 75% of our students depend upon part-time employment to finance their education.

Our enrollment this fall will be the largest in the twenty-two year history of our college, which means we need more jobs than ever before.

If you have need of a young man or woman for part-time work whether clerical, janitorial or whatever, please call Rev. David Lattimer at 474-8897.

Thank you.

Auction Dollar Days Planned By Merchants

Ward Skinner of the Circleville Retail Promotion Committee, announced, today, the group is planning a unique sales event for the month of September.

The event is called "Auction Dollar Days" and has been received with much enthusiasm in communities, where it has been presented.

It is a program, in which all the people of the trade area can take part, without cost. "Auction Dollars" will be issued on all retail sales, during the ten day period, beginning Sept. 9 through Sept. 19.

"Auction Dollars" will be issued by participating firms on all sales (cash, charge or lay-away) equal to the amount of the sale . . . up to one hundred dollars on any single item. This "auction money" can be used just like real money, to bid on many valuable prizes.

Skinner adds that he is pleased the business firms have an opportunity to offer this program. It is there way of saying "Thank You" for shopping . . . Here at home.

Keep reading future issues of The Circleville Herald for details.

Plan Banquet For McDowell

A banquet in honor of retired County Superintendent George D. McDowell has been scheduled Sept. 16 at Teays Valley High School.

The dinner is open to the public. The informal affair will be in recognition of the McDowell's 50 years of devoted service as county superintendent. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will be present as guests of honor.

Reservations and tickets must be secured from any county school or the office of the County Superintendent Jud Lanman by noon Friday, Sept. 11.

Tot Undergoes Further Surgery

David Timothy Stevens, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Stevens, Route 3, underwent surgery for further amputation of his left foot Wednesday in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

David's foot was injured one week ago in the rotary blades of a riding mower at his home at Hargus Lake. His left foot was amputated to the heel in emergency surgery performed on the day of the accident.

Efforts to save the heel were unsuccessful, necessitating further surgery.

According to David's father, Circleville youth James (Peanuts) Barker and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barker were vigil companions during yesterday's surgery.

"Peanuts," a star of the local Youth Baseball Program is a recent amputee.

Police Check Top's Burglary

Circleville Police Department investigated the grand larceny of Top's Cleaners, Lancaster Pike Wednesday evening.

According to a report by Russell Teets, manager of the store, the thief made off with $81.64 in cash and the day's receipts.

The incident is still under investigation by the department.

2 Airlines End Morning Flight Movies

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major airlines have announced they are dropping the showing of movies on long distance, domestic morning flights. Reasons: to save money; passengers aren't interested in seeing films that early in the day.

A third airline said it was reviewing its inflight movie policy but had reached no decisions.

American Airlines stopped showing movies Tuesday on pre-nondepartures. Trans World Airlines announced it would end its screenings next month on similar flights. United Airlines said "our policy of showing movies is under review."

"Surveys indicated that passengers were not interested in movies that early, and it saves money," said a spokesman for American Airlines, which lost $1.6 million during the first six months of this year.

"TWA will temporarily discontinue showing movies on morning flights on U.S. domestic routes. This suspension is effective from Oct. 1 through next March 31. This is an economy move," a spokesman said.

TWA, he added, lost $37.7 million during the first six months of this year.

Deaths

MR. CHARLES SCHNEIDER
Mr. Charles J. Schneider, 71, 585 N. Court St., died 3:50 a.m. Thursday in Berger Hospital.

Soil Types Discussed At Health Meet

Don Archer and Dave Bolender of the Agricultural Department of Soil Conservation Service attended the August meeting of the Pickaway County Board of Health where they gave a talk and demonstration on the characteristics and types of soil found in Pickaway County locations.

The value of the soil mapping program being conducted by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Land and Soil Division, was also explained to board members.

Reports to the board were made by Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian, who discussed existing problems and improvements made following inspections of specific hog farms and from Helen Pickens, county nurse, who reported her activities for the month.

Mrs. Pickens and Effie Davis of the health department, were given permission by the board to attend a workshop on Child Protective Services conducted by the American Humane Assn. for Child Welfare departments, welfare boards and agencies. The workshop is scheduled Sept. 9-11 in Columbus.

All board members were present at the Friday meet with President Richard L. Christensen presiding.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

Projects for science fairs, go-1 ones, must be planned well in advance. In the children's department of the library students will find many books which will help them select, perform, and present their entries.

Recently there has been a growing interest in carnivorous plants. "Plants That Eat Animals" by Linna Bentley, presents a fascinating discussion of these botanical phenomena. There are, in all, only twelve which are able to use animals as food. They have special characteristics which enable them to function this

Savings Bond Bonus Boon To Owners

K. F. Fosnaugh Pickaway County Volunteer Savings Bonds Chairman reports that the 1/2 per cent bonus approved by President Nixon means that Savings Bonds owners can realize 5 1/2 per cent annual interest on their holdings.

"The bonus applies both the bonds purchased on and after June 1, 1970 and those bought before and still outstanding. There'll be no need to redeem any bonds to benefit from the new rate. Now more than ever before it pays to buy and hold onto your Bonds. The increase is a real boon" he said.

He pointed out that the 10 million Americans who purchase Bonds regularly enjoy other direct benefits.

"The interest paid on U.S. Savings Bonds is not subject to state or local income and personal property taxes. This new rate increase coupled with their tax advantages makes Savings Bonds especially useful" Fosnaugh continued.

The chairman urged county residents to contact their employers or their banks to take advantage of the new Savings Bonds bonus by increasing their Payroll Savings or Bond-A-Month participation.

"Savings Bonds enable us to demonstrate in a most positive manner faith in our country while helping to provide for our own financial security" he added.

Pope Gets Stoned

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — A 35-year-old man from southern Italy threw two rocks at Pope Paul VI Wednesday after the pontiff had blessed his weekly general audience in the reception hall of his summer palace. The rocks missed, and the man was arrested.

'Sound Of 70' Is Theme Of Band Preview

The theme of the 1970 Band Preview scheduled 8 p.m. Friday at the CHS football field is "The Sounds of the 70s."

Circleville fans will have a preview of the junior high band, the 1970 football team, the senior high band and the majorettes.

The Junior High band under the direction of Clifford Kerns will combine with the senior band under the direction of Gary Dean to give the audience an outstanding show.

In addition the program will include the first appearance of the new CHS stage band. The group will play such numbers as "The Horse," "Fever," "New Generation" and "Walk Wild."

THE senior band will feature the 1970 majorettes and will play the following selections:

"Drum Fanfare," "Band Fanfare," "Marching Trumpets Ole," "Spinning Wheel" and "Soul Step."

The football coaching staff will be introduced and in turn will give the fans a "mini-view" of the gridders.

(Continued from Page 1) twice that many seriously wounded. The Cambodian commander claimed 500 to 600 enemy killed or wounded but this was an estimate and probably highly inaccurate.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported 28 enemy rocket and mortar attacks across South Vietnam, from 8 a.m. Wednesday to 8 a.m. today with one American killed and 13 wounded. Another seven Americans were killed and 28 wounded in scattered fighting, booby trap incidents and the explosion of a Marine F4 fighter-bomber that caught fire while it was being refueled at Da Nang Air Base.

The U.S. Command announced today that the Army's 35th Engineer Battalion is being deactivated as part of President Nixon's cutback of 50,000 American troops in Vietnam. The deactivation will result in a reduction of about 810 personnel spaces, the command said.

As usual, only troops who have completed most of their 12-month tour will return to the United States. The rest will be reassigned to other units in South Vietnam.

Local Grangers Receive Top Honors At Fair

All entries from Pickaway County Granges received top honors in the finals held at the Ohio State Fair last week in the Arts and Crafts Building at the exposition.

The Saltcreek Valley Grange Chorus received fifth place in the state competition. Accompanied by the group was Bill Rihl as they sang "In the Garden" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Mrs. Orban Buchweil, of Scioto Grange, tied for third place in the instrumental solo division. She played a piano solo "Rustles of Spring."

Later in the morning a second place in the vocal duet was won by Betty Bolender and Paul Dunkle who sang "Tell Me Why" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." They were accompanied by Darlene Collins. All three were representatives of the Pickaway County Youth Grange Organization.

In the vocal solo division, Paul Dunkle won the first place award for the state title. He competed against seven other soloists for the award and will have the chance for the "Best of Show" given by the judges for a winner to attend the national finals to be held at the National Grange Convention in Boise, Idaho later in the year. Accompanying the soloist was Patricia Schleich who participated in the state finals in 1968.

All entries in the state finals had won district contests held in June throughout the state. Winners on the state level will appear at the state convention to be held in Akron in October.

Tate Defendant's 'Pains' Said Mostly Constipation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defendant Susan Atkins says she has been in constant pain at the Sharon Tate murder trial. A doctor says it's probably just anxiety.

The judge, after listening to the defendant and the doctor Wednesday, said of Miss Atkins: "She's articulate she's lucid and she's apparently perfectly healthy." He ordered the trial resumed.

Miss Atkins, 21, is one of three young women followers on trial with Charles M. Manson, 35, chief of a nomadic hippie-style "family," on charges of murder-conspiracy in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others.

Court was recessed Monday and Tuesday while Miss Atkins was hospitalized for tests and treatment of the pains which she said first occurred Friday.

Public Report

Wednesday about the new evidence, which was said to have been reviewed by President Nixon and his top advisors Tuesday at San Clemente, Calif.

Premier Golda Meir and her Cabinet met again today to consider the question as Israel issued its n'th complaint charging more Egyptian movement of anti-aircraft missiles into the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

The sources said continued abstention from negotiations would be aimed at appeasing Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who some Israeli believe will quit the Cabinet if Ambassador Yosef Tekoah returns to the talks with U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring before the United States gives public support to Israel's charges.

"The defense minister is not making it easy for Golda," wrote columnist Yoel Marcus in the newspaper Haaretz. "He has given to understand that 'this is for him a matter of principle, and that if his stand is not accepted he can no longer bear responsibility for defense policy.'"

Tekoah returned to Jerusalem last week after only one day of the talks, and so far there has been no sign of his returning to New York.

First National Named In Damage Suit

Circleville First National Bank has been named defendant in a $202,100 suit filed in Ross County Common Pleas Court.

Charges were filed against the bank by Harold White Sr., Chillicothe. White is asking the amount for damages incurred when the bank filed suit against him in June of 1968.

In the earlier case, the First National asked for $20,000 on unpaid promissory notes. The court there ruled in White's favor at a hearing held Sept., 1969.

White's suit claims injury to his credit reputation caused by the bank's petition. The Chillicothe man also cites mental suffering, physical discomfort and injury to his reputation as the cause for his damage suit against the bank.

White has asked $100,000 damages each for punitive and general damages and $2,100 for special damages. He has requested a jury hearing on his case.

Truck Hoist Stolen In Williamsport

Curtis Payne of Williamsport notified the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department of the theft of a hoist from his truck.

He said he had parked the truck at a residence on the Williamsport-Chillicothe Pike on Aug. 20 and when he returned Aug. 25 the hoist, valued at $75 was missing.

She was led into court Wednesday sobbing and clutching her side.

At midmorning she arose, breaking into testimony, and cried: "Get me out of here! I'm hurting bad!"

With tears streaming down her face, she told the judge: "Your honor, if you don't get me out of this courtroom I'll start screaming . . . I can't take it any longer." She was half-carried from court by two ma-rons.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older recessed court, summoned the doctor who had examined Miss Atkins, then ordered a hearing on her health.

At the hearing, Dr. Margaret McCarron, assistant medical director of the Los Angeles County - USC Medical Center said she and other doctors examined Miss Atkins in the jail ward.

She said tests revealed only that Miss Atkins "was quite constipated." She was treated, and the problem was remedied, said the doctor.

"I think she is having some pain from anxiety, and she is interpreting it as being in her abdomen," said Dr. McCarron.

She recommended that Miss Atkins take tranquilizers and vitamin pills for the trial's duration.

Earlier, police chemist Joseph Granado testified that he compared samples of Miss Atkins' hair with strands found on bloody clothing dumped in a canyon near the Tate home, and found a number of similarities.

Motorist Attempts To Prevent Crash Collides With Pole

A 20-year-old Mt. Sterling woman was cited in an auto accident Wednesday which caused heavy damage to the other vehicle involved but none to hers.

Wilma K. Snyder was cited by investigating Highway Patrolmen for failure to yield when she caused a one-car collision on the CCC Highway yesterday evening.

The Mt. Sterling woman was stopped on Circleville - London Northern Road behind a pickup at the intersection with the CCC route. When the pickup pulled out into the northbound lane, Miss Snyder proceeded to turn south into the path of another auto driven by a Columbus man, George J. Vois.

Twenty-year-old Vois applied his brakes to avoid a collision and went off the road into a fence, coming to stop against a utility pole. Damage to his 1967 model car was estimated at $700. Neither driver was injured.

Auction Dollar Days Planned By Merchants

Ward Skinner of the Circleville Retail Promotion Committee, announced, today, the group is planning a unique sales event for the month of September.

The event is called "Auction Dollar Days" and has been received with much enthusiasm in communities, where it has been presented.

It is a program, in which all the people of the trade area can take part, without cost. "Auction Dollars" will be issued on all retail sales, during the ten day period, beginning Sept. 9 through Sept. 19.

"Auction Dollars" will be issued by participating firms on all sales (cash, charge or lay-away) equal to the amount of the sale . . . up to one hundred dollars on any single item. This "auction money" can be used just like real money, to bid on many valuable prizes.

Skinner adds that he is pleased the business firms have an opportunity to offer this program. It is there way of saying "Thank You" for shopping . . . Here at home.

Keep reading future issues of The Circleville Herald for details.

Plan Banquet For McDowell

A banquet in honor of retired County Superintendent George D. McDowell has been scheduled Sept. 16 at Teays Valley High School.

The dinner is open to the public. The informal affair will be in recognition of the McDowell's 50 years of devoted service as county superintendent. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell will be present as guests of honor.

Reservations and tickets must be secured from any county school or the office of the County Superintendent Jud Lanman by noon Friday, Sept. 11.

Tot Undergoes Further Surgery

David Timothy Stevens, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Stevens, Route 3, underwent surgery for further amputation of his left foot Wednesday in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

David's foot was injured one week ago in the rotary blades of a riding mower at his home at Hargus Lake. His left foot was amputated to the heel in emergency surgery performed on the day of the accident.

Efforts to save the heel were unsuccessful, necessitating further surgery.

According to David's father, Circleville youth James (Peanuts) Barker and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barker were vigil companions during yesterday's surgery.

"Peanuts," a star of the local Youth Baseball Program is a recent amputee.

The incident is still under investigation by the department.

2 Airlines End Morning Flight Movies

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major airlines have announced they are dropping the showing of movies on long distance, domestic morning flights. Reasons: to save money; passengers aren't interested in seeing films that early in the day.

A third airline said it was reviewing its inflight movie policy but had reached no decisions.

American Airlines stopped showing movies Tuesday on prenoon departures. Trans World Airlines announced it would end its screenings next month on similar flights. United Airlines said "our policy of showing movies is under review."

"Surveys indicated that passengers were not interested in movies that early, and it saves money," said a spokesman for American Airlines, which lost $1.6 million during the first six months of this year.

"TWA will temporarily discontinue showing movies on morning flights on U.S. domestic routes. This suspension is effective from Oct. 1 through next March 31. This is an economy move," a spokesman said.

TWA, he added, lost $37.7 million during the first six months of this year.

Ancient Maladies Return

Cholera, bubonic plague, diphtheria sound like diseases out of the Middle Ages -- and they are, but they are making a reappearance this year.

In the last five years, cases of bubonic plague have been reported in six Western States and the number of diphtheria cases reported to date already equals last year's total of 200. Cholera is largely confined to Asia, but the U.S. Public Health Service says it is possible isolated cases may appear in North America.

No large scale epidemics of any of the diseases are expected here. Health officials are prepared to cope with any outbreaks.

But, as the U. S. Health Service has warned, with an estimated 15 per cent of the children not immunized against diphtheria, outbreaks of that disease can be expected for the balance of the year.

The Business World

By LEE LINDER (For John Cuniff)

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The head of the nation's oldest bank believes the boards of big corporations and banks should have seats for women, blacks, the poor, the young, and the consumer.

"There will be changes in the 1970s to make industry, finance and government more responsive," says John Bunting, president and chief executive officer of First Pennsylvania Trust Co., the largest in Philadelphia with assets of $2.8 billion. "And they will come about either by revolution or evolution."

"Frankly, I prefer evolution, and thus will help it, because I am opposed to anarchy, to violence."

By 1980, if Bunting is right, he says a third of the members of the boards of major corporations, including his bank, may be filled by men and women representing consumer groups.

Specifically, he thinks there should be a place on boards for a person under 26. And a spot, too, for someone earning under $7,500.

"Definitely a black, and positively a woman," Bunting says, the engaging grin on his sunburned face suddenly dissolving into a serious mold. "This will come swiftly. An overwhelming majority of today's corporations, maybe 98 per cent, don't have a black or a woman on their boards. There are none on the business board I'm on."

A maverick in banking, the brash and athletic-looking Bunting, talks relaxed but admits to constant excitement in his search for the unconventional. He insists it's time to discard the theory that only a limited group of men, that so-called magic 100, should run all the important boards in any city.

"That may have been sound years ago, but it's certainly no longer legitimate," he said. "There are hundreds of qualified people who deserve a piece of the action."

And he's already hearing from a lot of them: "I have more than 75 written applications from young people, and they may be too old by the time we get around to picking such a person."

Bunting, a 5-foot-8, 150-pounder who runs a mile every day "for my well-being," thinks maybe the young and the poor could be the same person, perhaps a college student or a graduate fellow.

According To Boyle

By RANDOLPH SCHMID (For Hal Boyle)

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One of my childhood images built up by years of movie-going has been ruined. I took a pinch of snuff, held it to my nose, inhaled sharply, and failed to sneeze.

For some reason the dandies in all the old Errol Flynn movies always sneezed. I was a little disappointed. It was an interesting experience, though, and surprisingly pleasant.

America's current fashion movement toward many of the styles that were popular long ago seems, although quietly, to be affecting the snuff industry.

The snuff makers estimate that more than six million Americans now use snuff—although less than one per cent of them inhale it.

Tom Vaughan of the Conwood Corp., in Memphis, formerly known as the American Snuff Co., explained that Americans lost their taste for inhaling snuff right after the Revolutionary War. Since then, he said, almost all Americans have used snuff by placing it between the lower lip and gum in their mouth.

Basically snuffs, the dipping kind you put in your mouth, are either dry or moist with moist popular in the North and dry in the South.

Conwood is now test marketing sniffing snuff for the first time in this country, to see if it will catch on. In fact in a move for convenience the company is also selling what it calls "Snuff-fetes." These are little tablets of compressed snuff which you can pop into your mouth without worrying about spilling all that finely ground tobacco all over the place.

"Snuff which you inhale can be especially good at breaking the ice at a dull party," Vaughan commented, "it brought most of the people around me asking what it was and wanting to try it."

Snuff was being regularly used by the Indians when Columbus landed and, of course, his crew took the habit back to Europe where it took society by storm.

After a grand age in the 17th and 18th centuries snuff use declined, giving way to smoking. It climbed again during World War II, when thousands of servicemen chose to chew rather than show their position with a lighted cigarette.

To the uninitiated, chew snuff tastes rather like mild chewing tobacco, although its first few uses can make you sick.

Starting in 1949 snuff use took a dip and continued steadily down until three years ago, when the trend began reversing itself.

Indians Granted Own Administration

ZUNI, N.M. (AP) — The small Zuni Indian tribe of western New Mexico signed an agreement recently with the Interior Department which gives the tribe administration of their own reservation.

It was the first time such an agreement had been worked out between the federal agency and a tribe. The document was prepared under an 1834 law that never had been used before.

The agreement places the Zuni Tribal government in direct supervision of Bureau of Indian Affairs activities, programs and personnel on the reservation about 40 miles south of Gallup.

The agreement has a provision that can cause its cancellation by either party on 180 days written notice to the other if the experiment doesn't work out.

You're Telling Me!

We seem to be running across a lot of anniversaries here lately which no one apparently bothers to celebrate. For instance, this is the 187th anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Paris — on Sept. 3, 1783.

So what, you say? Well, it just happened to be the treaty that ended the American Revolutionary War which was won by you know who — and how!

The Treaty wasn't verified by Congress until Jan. 14, 1784. Seems our lawmakers moved slower in those days than they do even now.

Good old George Washington, however, was no slowpoke. Early in October in 1781 he quickly bottled up Lord Cornwallis in Yorktown before help could reach His Nibs and Corny surrendered. And that, except for the Treaty signing, was that!

The British Cabinet, incidentally, recognized American independence 17 months before the Paris Treaty. That's pretty good reading of the handwriting on the wall.

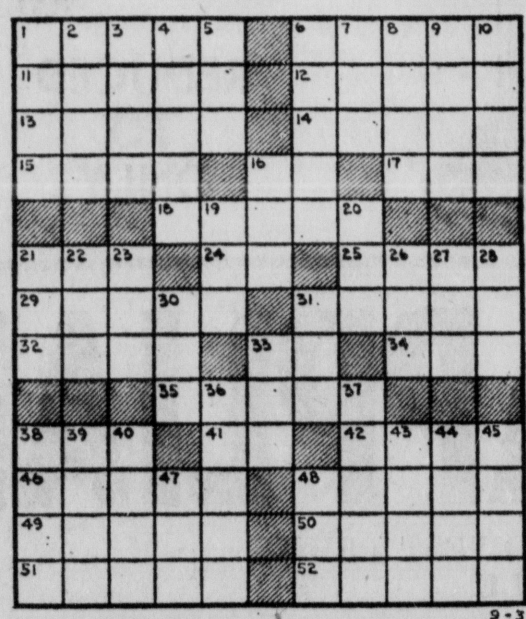

In November, 1783, the British forces sailed for home — a Lion that had been thoroughly walloped by an Eagle.

On Dec. 23, that year, Washington resigned command of the Army, to retire to his Mount Vernon home and what, he thought, would be the life of an obscure citizen. That's one time George guessed wrong!

"Don't you think you're carrying this morning's argument just a little too far?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

BILL MOILES, shameless sage of Worcester, Mass., confesses that while motoring from Los Alamos to Santa Fe, New Mexico, he caught sight of a mare nursing a newborn colt, and was heard to comment, "Oh, well, a foal and his mummy are soon parted."

Composer Burt Bacharach ("What the World Needs Now," "I'll Never Fall in Love Again," "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head," and countless other hits) began his career in the Army in the Korean War, when he toured the bases entertaining the troops with his virtuoso piano playing. Then he became the accompanist of, first, Vic Damone, later Marlene Dietrich. His first big hits were introduced by Diane Warwick.

Mrs. Burt Bacharach is the beautiful movie star, Angie Dickinson. Asked how two such "careerists" can make such a conspicuous success of their marriage, Burt explains, "I propose to her anew once every week—and she accepts me."

A crabby but extremely rich old party, who had disappointed a score of eager apparent heirs by refusing to shuffle off of this earth, approached his ninety-fourth birthday, tottering but full of beans. "We'll have to get the old boy something, but what?" worried a great granddaughter. "He still hears and sees everything, but does find it harder and harder to walk, it seems."

"Good," nodded her husband. "How about six cans of floor wax?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One hour after my husband was given a clean bill of health by his doctor he died of a heart attack on his way to his office.

I have discussed this with his doctor and cannot understand why it was impossible to detect the bad condition of his heart.

Mrs. G. L. K., Colorado

Dear Mrs. K.: Such a clammy rightfully seems incomprehensible to you. It is a rare occurrence in the general practice of medicine and defies definitive and thorough explanation.

A "clean bill of health" may be given to someone after a physical examination that shows the heart and lungs and blood pressure to be perfectly normal, too.

Even the electrocardiogram, an important indication of the health of the heart, may be normal. And yet such a catastrophe can occasionally occur.

Sometimes it takes 36 to 48 hours after a person has had a heart attack for the electrocardiogram to show evidence of it. The damage to the heart muscle shows up on the reading. This, and other electronic devices, are reliable in the diagnosis of heart disease, but not to prophesy what can happen, even in an hour.

Undoubtedly, your husband suffered a sudden massive heart attack which could not possibly be anticipated by any of the physical findings during his examination.

I have had two inoculations against smallpox. Neither one took. Must I continue to take them until I get a positive reaction?

Miss K. A., New Jersey

Dear Miss A.: The theory behind inoculation for smallpox is to build up an immunity against it in this way:

A small amount of a smallpox vaccine is placed on the skin which is then scratched and abraded to introduce the virus under the skin.

In this way, an actual single pox is made. This one pox is sufficient to call forth the development of mummunity in the body.

It is suggested that repeated immunization be given every three years. Some people, like yourself, may have developed almost a lifetime of immunity by their childhood vaccination. This is rare, but does occasionally occur.

Two vaccinations that did not take is a good indication of the fact that you have immunity now against smallpox.

The United States government requires re-vaccination every three years for people returning to the country from a foreign land.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1970. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, the Revolutionary War between the United States and Great Britain was ended officially with the signing of the Treaty of Paris—for the United States by Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and John Jay.

On this date:

In 1826, the U.S.S. Vincennes, an American warship commanded by William Bolton Finch, left New York harbor to circumnavigate the globe—the first warship to accomplish the feat.

In 1916, in World War I the Allies turned back the Germans at Verdun.

In 1939, President Woodrow Wilson started out on a tour of the Western states to rouse popular support for the League of Nations and the Treaty of Versailles.

In 1925, the U.S. Navy dirigible Shenandoah was torn to pieces in a thunder squall while traveling over Ava, Ohio, and 14 crew members were killed.

In 1939, at 11 a.m. when her ultimatum to Adolf Hitler to cease hostilities in Poland expired, Great Britain declared war on Germany. France followed Britain's lead six hours later.

In 1945, with World War II barely over, at least 10 Frenchmen were killed in Indochina as a result of Annamese national uprisings in Hanoi.

Ten years ago — Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., started his presidential campaign tour of Alaska.

Five years ago — Hector Garcia-Godoy took office as provisional president of the Dominican Republic.

One year ago — President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam died in Hanoi after a heart attack. He was 79.

New Era For Europe?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

ROME — Time magazine, on the cover of its European edition, proclaims that the agreement signed in Moscow by West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin means a "new era," but who really believes it?

Certainly not the cynical Italians, whose press, from the socialist Avanti to the right-wing Voce Repubblicana, has poured forth gallons of ink on the second anniversary of "the tragedy of 'normalization' in Czechoslovakia." The papers have played up the story of two Italian boys arrested in Prague and deported to Austria for "incidents" at the grave of the youth who burned himself to protest against the defeat of "Dubcek's springtime," and the adjective "neo-Stalinist" is liberally applied to the current Czech Communist regime.

As an anti-Communist of long standing (ever since I found myself in the late Thirties in the uncomfortable position of being a member of the minority in a Communist-manipulated unit of the New York Newspaper Guild), I could be suspected of reading more into the Italian headlines than is actually there. However, I have friends in Rome who are non-Communist, and they, too, doubt that the Russian bear is a changed animal. Said one of American Universities Field Staff (which is currently engaged in holding seminars on the balance of power in the Mediterranean):

"The Russians can't afford a war in the West. If they ever provoked one they wouldn't have a friend in the world. Can you imagine the Czechs or the Poles or the Hungarians — or Tito — fighting for them? (My friend had forgotten East Germany's Ulbricht but this ancient relic of Stalinism would have difficulty perking up the morale of his troops.)

It stands to reason that the Soviet willingness to placate the West is, in the minds of Brezhnev and Kosygin, an "interlude" tactic. This can be seen with particular clarity in Italy, which dangles its long boot in a sea that is becoming increasingly red in its coloration.

In this connection the studies made by the American Universities Field Staff have a special significance. An old friend, E. A. Bayne, who covers Iran, Israel and Somalia for the A.U.F.S., advises his students to keep their eyes on the so-called Horn of Africa, which is that part of Somaliland opposite Aden that controls the Indian Ocean entrance to the Red Sea.

Time was when the Somali police and army were "owned by the Americans." But in the early Sixties, when the Kenyan government in Washington "identified" with Ethiopia, the long-standing enemy of Somali irredentists who claim title to a slice of Ethiopian territory, the U.S., in common with West Germany and Italy, turned down the Somali requests for arms for a 10,000-man army. Whereupon the Russians stepped in, as they had done when Egypt wanted help for the Aswan Dam. Nine hundred Soviet military instructors went to Mogadishu, the Somali capital, and Russian equipment and training to the tune of $55 million followed. Meanwhile, young Somali officers journeyed to Moscow for their technical education.

This does not mean that the Somalis, who, like Libyans, are currently ruled by a coup d'etat government of the military and the police, are officially aligned with Moscow. But there can be "non-alignment" with a difference.

The Phrixothrix larva, a distant cousin of the firefly, only flashes its lights when it is aroused, usually by contact with some other creature. The larva's head glows about as intensely as the coal of a lighted cigarette.

"Non-alignment" takes on a slightly anti-American religious cast when American Muslims ask, "Since the Koran states that there are seven gates to the moon to which only Mohammed had the keys, how have the infidel Americans reached it?"

It should be obvious to everyone that long-term Soviet policy follows British policy of the Nineteenth Century. The policy is to keep the peace in central Europe by whatever means come to hand while the consolidation of a "central" world position goes on. The Mediterranean must become a Soviet lake, particularly in the East. The Suez Canal must be reopened, Moscow must have a say in the distribution of Arab oil, the Red Sea-Gulf of Aden waterway past Somaliland must become a Soviet artery, the Indian Ocean must be preempted before the Red Chinese get there, and Peking must be cowed by Soviet leverage exercised from both the ocean and the land. This means that Western Europe to the north of the Alps is currently "off the hook." However, "currently" does not mean forever. The Italians know that Machiavelli always has the last word.

ANGRY MAN CHOPS HOLES IN $5 MILLION JET—Bill Ennis, an Eastern Airlines mechanic, inspects 18 holes chopped in a $5 million jetliner at Miami International Airport by Thomas William Brown, 38, a carpenter. Brown said he chopped the holes and sprayed black paint on the plane because his dog, a champion wolfhound, died of heat prostration after an Eastern flight. At the right Robert Beatty attacks paint on jet's nose.

Stewart Granger

By GENE HANDSAKER

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After starring in 60 films, Stewart Granger admits he still has a goal: "making a movie I was really proud of."

The tall, handsome Englishman, who at 57 jokes that he's in a contest with Lorne Greene "to see who can grow the biggest white sideburns," explains:

As an actor, he's not proud of his films. Actors don't act to please the audience but to impress other actors. They're called actors' actors.

"They wish another actor to come to them and say, 'You were wonderful in that part.'"

"When an audience says, 'I loved you in that part,' they're not criticizing you as an actor. They liked you as the person—like Saramouche, as the hunter in 'King Solomon's Mines,' the 'Prisoner of Zenda'—a few of Granger's roles.

"I don't think I ever made a film where other actors came and said, 'My gosh, you were great in that film.'"

Granger, turning to series television this fall in NBC's "The Men from Shiloh," remarked that his late friend Spencer Tracy made many films to be proud of.

"His performance in 'Inherit the Wind' was fantastic. If I'd made one film like that I think I could relax and say, 'All right! I made a good film.'"

"Spence was an actor's actor. Everybody thought he was great. Marlon Brando is an actor's actor—or was an actor's actor. Richard Burton is an actor's actor."

"I don't try to be cruel, but Alan Ladd was not an actor's actor but a very successful film star. Stewart Granger was quite a successful film star, but I don't think he was an actor's actor." Granger said he might have become an actor's actor in the theater.

"I was a very serious theater actor at the Old Vic. Shakespeare, Shaw, Restoration comedies and all that."

Go back to the theater? "Too lazy. The theater's hard work."

Dear Editor:

Ohio small game season will begin Sept. 11 and many sportsmen will be in our woodlands.

Hunting is a safe sport and it can be made more safe if each hunter will only think. Be sure your gun is unloaded when not in use; be sure the safety is on when in the field; be sure you use caution in crossing a fence and be sure your target is game.

Hunting is a privilege and the purchase of a license entitles you to this privilege. Think about this privilege and it will be available to you for many more hunting seasons.

Think about the game laws and regulations set up by your game officials. They have been devised to provide for fair distribution of our resources, protect the breeding stock and insure the safety of the hunter.

Many lands upon which you hunt are owned by individuals like yourself. Think of this and use these privately owned lands as if they were your own.

The purchase of a license is an extremely small investment for many days of recreational opportunities. It also makes each purchaser a stockholder in the company known as the future.

Ancient Maladies Return

Cholera, bubonic plague, diphtheria sound like diseases out of the Middle Ages -- and they are, but they are making a reappearance this year.

In the last five years, cases of bubonic plague have been reported in six Western States and the number of diphtheria cases reported to date already equals last year's total of 200. Cholera is largely confined to Asia, but the U.S. Public Health Service says it is possible isolated cases may appear in North America.

No large scale epidemics of any of the diseases are expected here. Health officials are prepared to cope with any outbreaks.

But, as the U. S. Health Service has warned, with an estimated 15 per cent of the children not immunized against diphtheria, outbreaks of that disease can be expected for the balance of the year.

The Business World

By LEE LINDER (For John Cuniff)

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The head of the nation's oldest bank believes the boards of big corporations and banks should have seats for women, blacks, the poor, the young, and the consumer.

"There will be changes in the 1970s to make industry, finance and government more responsive," says John Bunting, president and chief executive officer of First Pennsylvania Trust Co., the largest in Philadelphia with assets of $2.8 billion. "And they will come about either by revolution or evolution."

"Frankly, I prefer evolution, and thus will help it, because I am opposed to anarchy, to violence."

By 1980, if Bunting is right, he says a third of the members of the boards of major corporations, including his bank, may be filled by men and women representing consumer groups. Specifically, he thinks there should be a place on boards for a person under 26. And a spot, too, for someone earning under $7,500.

"Definitely a black, and positively a woman," Bunting says, the engaging grin on his sunburned face suddenly dissolving into a serious mold. "This will come swiftly. An overwhelming majority of today's corporations, maybe 98 per cent, don't have a black or a woman on their boards. There are none on the business board I'm on."

A maverick in banking, the brash and athletic-looking Bunting, talks relaxed but admits to constant excitement in his search for the unconventional. He insists it's time to discard the theory that only a limited group of men, that so-called magic 100, should run all the important boards in any city.

"That may have been sound years ago, but it's certainly no longer legitimate," he said. "There are hundreds of qualified people who deserve a piece of the action."

And he's already hearing from a lot of them: "I have more than 75 written applications from young people, and they may be too old by the time we get around to picking such a person."

ROME — Time magazine, on the cover of its European edition, proclaims that the agreement signed in Moscow by West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin means a "new era," but who really believes it?

Certainly not the cynical Italians, whose press, from the socialist Avanti to the right-wing Voce Repubblicana, has poured forth gallons of ink on the second anniversary of "the tragedy of 'normalization' in Czechoslovakia." The papers have played up the story of two Italian boys arrested in Prague and deported to Austria for "incidents" at the grave of the youth who burned himself to protest against the defeat of "Dubcek's springtime," and the adjective "neo-Stalinist" is liberally applied to the current Czech Communist regime.

As an anti-Communist of long standing (ever since I found myself in the late Thirties in the uncomfortable position of being a member of the minority in a Communist-manipulated unit of the New York Newspaper Guild), I could be suspected of reading more into the Italian headlines than is actually there. However, I have friends in Rome who are non-Communist, and they, too, doubt that the Russian bear is a changed animal. Said one of American Universities Field Staff (which is currently engaged in holding seminars on the balance of power in the Mediterranean):

"The Russians can't afford a war in the West. If they ever provoked one they wouldn't have a friend in the world. Can you imagine the Czechs or the Poles or the Hungarians — or Tito — fighting for them? (My friend had forgotten East Germany's Ulbricht but this ancient relic of Stalinism would have difficulty perking up the morale of his troops.)"

It stands to reason that the Soviet willingness to placate the West is, in the minds of Brezhnev and Kosygin, an "interlude" tactic. This can be seen with particular clarity in Italy, which dangles its long boot in a sea that is becoming increasingly red in its coloration.

In this connection the studies made by the American Universities Field Staff have a special significance. An old friend, E. A. Bayne, who covers Iran, Israel and Somalia for the AUF, advises his students to keep their eyes on the so-called Horn of Africa, which is that part of Somaliland opposite Aden that controls the Indian Ocean entrance to the Red Sea.

Time was when the Somali police and army were "owned by the Americans." But in the early Sixties, when the Kenyan government in Washington "identified" with Ethiopia, the long-standing enemy of Somali irredentists who claim title to a slice of Ethiopian territory, the U.S., in common with West Germany and Italy, turned down the Somali requests for arms for a 10,000-man army. Whereupon the Russians stepped in, as they had done when Egypt wanted help for the Aswan Dam. Nine hundred Soviet military instructors went to Mogadishu, the Somali capital, and Russian equipment and training to the tune of $55 million followed. Meanwhile, young Somali officers journeyed to Moscow for their technical education.

This does not mean that the Somalis, who, like Libyans, are currently ruled by a coup d'etat government of the military and the police, are officially aligned with Moscow. But there can be "non-alignment" with a difference.

The Phrixothrix larva, a distant cousin of the firefly, only flashes its lights when it is aroused, usually by contact with some other creature. The larva's head glows about as intensely as the coal of a lighted cigarette.

"Non-alignment" takes on a slightly anti-American religious cast when Somali Muslims ask, "Since the Koran states that there are seven gates to the moon to which only the Mohammed had the keys, how have the infidel Americans reached it?"

It should be obvious to everyone that long-term Soviet policy follows British policy of the Nineteenth Century. The policy is to keep the peace in central Europe by whatever means come to hand while the consolidation of a "central" world position goes on. The Mediterranean must become a Soviet lake, particularly in the East. The Suez Canal must be reopened, Moscow must have a say in the distribution of Arab oil, the Red Sea-Gulf of Aden waterway past Somaliland must become a Soviet artery, the Indian Ocean must be preempted before the Red Chinese get there, and Peking must be cowed by Soviet leverage exercised from both the ocean and the land. This means that Western Europe to the north of the Alps is currently "off the hook." However, "currently" does not mean forever. The Italians know that Machiavelli always has the last word.

ANGRY MAN CHOPS HOLES IN $5 MILLION JET—Bill Ennis, an Eastern Airlines mechanic, inspects 18 holes chopped in a $5 million jetliner at Miami International Airport by Thomas William Brown, 38, a carpenter. Brown said he chopped the holes and sprayed black paint on the plane because his dog, a champion wolfhound, died of heat prostration after an Eastern flight. At the right Robert Beatty attacks paint on jet's nose.

Stewart Granger

By GENE HANDSAKER

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After starring in 60 films, Stewart Granger admits he still has a goal: "making a movie I was really proud of."

The tall, handsome Englishman, who at 37 jokes that he's in a contest with Lorne Greene "to see who can grow the biggest white sideburns," explains:

"As an actor, he's not proud of his films. Actors don't act to please the audience but to impress other actors. They're called actors' actors."

"They wish another actor to come to them and say, 'You were wonderful in that part.'"

"When an audience says, 'I loved you in that part,' they're not criticizing you as an actor. They liked you as the person—as Scaramouche, as the hunter in 'King Solomon's Mines,' the 'Prisoner of Zenda'—a few of Granger's roles."

"I don't think I ever made a film where other actors came and said, 'My gosh, you were great in that film.'"

Dear Editor:

Ohio small game season will begin Sept. 11 and many sportsmen will be in our woodlands.

Hunting is a safe sport and it can be made more safe if each hunter will only think. Be sure your gun is unloaded when not in use; be sure the safety is on when in the field; be sure you use caution in crossing a fence and be sure your target is game.

Hunting is a privilege and the purchase of a license entitles you to this privilege. Think about this privilege and it will be available to you for many more hunting seasons.

Think about the game laws and regulations set up by your game officials. They have been devised to provide for fair distribution of our resources, protect the breeding stock and insure the safety of the hunter.

Many lands upon which you hunt are owned by individuals like yourself. Think of this and use these privately owned lands as if they were your own.

The purchase of a license is an extremely small investment for many days of recreational opportunities. It also makes each purchaser a stockholder in the company known as the future.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Following is the official weather bureau summary for Ohio:

A warming trend which began yesterday continued through the night and early this morning. Temperatures ranged from the lower 60s to the lower 70s. A warm front moved into extreme western Ohio during the night. It will continue east across the remainder of the state today.

Scattered showers and thundershowers are forecast for the next 24 to 48 hours. A band of thundershowers moved across western Lake Erie and northwestern Ohio during the night, but most stayed out over Lake Erie.

A weak cold front, extending from northeast Minnesota to the Texas panhandle will also affect Ohio's weather.

This front will move east and into the extreme northwest portion by tomorrow evening.

Temperature changes will be small, but scattered thundershowers and showers are forecast.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Mostly cloudy and warm with chance of showers and thundershowers today and tonight. High temperatures today in the mid to upper 80s. Lows tonight in the mid to upper 70s. Considerable cloudiness with chance of showers and little change in temperature Friday. Highs mainly in the 80s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, SOUTH-WEST, SOUTHEAST — Mostly cloudy and warm with chance of showers and thundershowers today, tonight and Friday. High temperatures today in the mid to upper 80s. Lows tonight near 70. Highs Friday in the low to mid 80s. Saturday, variable cloudiness and a little cooler with chance of showers.

Appeal Decision On Penn Central Tax Value Cut

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth L. Bell has appealed a decision handed down by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals which reduced the tax value of property of the Penn Central railroad.

Bell said Wednesday that if the ruling is allowed to stand, the county could owe the railroad more than the utility owes in taxes.

Penn Central's property valuation was reduced from $113,752,000 to $78,196,613. The ruling is retroactive to the 1966 tax year and affects 56 counties, including Columbiana.

"Our county is one of the hardest hit," Bell said. The ruling would call for the county to pay Penn Central about 25 per cent of the taxes paid, or nearly $92,500 for each of the three and one-half years of taxes.

Hamilton County Crime Lab Set

CINCINNATI (AP) — A $1.4 million crime laboratory, to be owned by Hamilton County and serve three others, was assured Wednesday when the Hamilton County Commissioners appropriated $725,000.

The funds match a federal grant for construction of the Institute of Forensic Medicine. The laboratory will specialize in criminal, scientific and chemical analysis investigations.

All police agencies in Clermont, Butler and Warren counties will be served on a fee basis, officials said.

LBJ Reported Pleased By Agnew Report On Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has been briefed on the situation in Southeast Asia by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, and a vice presidential spokesman indicated Johnson was pleased with what he heard.

Agnew spent nearly three hours with the former president at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., Wednesday evening before flying to Washington to end a 27,000-mile, five nation Asian journey.

Earlier in the day, Agnew addressed the American Legion convention in Portland, Ore.

"The President (Johnson) didn't indicate he was unhappy about anything," an Agnew spokesman said on the flight back to Washington. Newsmen were not permitted to cover the session at the LBJ Ranch.

Say Prisoner Led Treasury Men To Bills

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An unidentified federal prisoner was responsible for leading the U.S. Secret Service to about $400,000 in counterfeit currency printed in Cleveland, according to Wilmer K. Deckard, agent in charge here.

The bogus money was believed by the Secret Service to be the remainder of a $1 million printing in 1964. Deckard said some $250,000 to $300,000 of the notes had been seized in different parts of the country before being placed in circulation.

The counterfeit money was recovered Wednesday and included thin zinc printing plates etched by a photographic process, Deckard said. Another shipment of phony money was found at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport in August.

He said $200,000 of phony $100 bills were placed in a public baggage locker in the Union Terminal by an unknown person Wednesday.

Agnew, meanwhile, was quoted as saying "the experience accumulated by presidents of the United States is a precious commodity." He was expected to convey Johnson's reaction on the briefing to President Nixon.

The vice president plans to go to Ocean City, Md., later today for a weekend of rest before launching political campaigning next Thursday in Casper, Wyo.

Johnson, reportedly looking tanned and relaxed, greeted Agnew and other members of the vice president's party on arrival at the ranch airstrip after a flight from Bergstrom AFB near Austin.

After a 10 minute talk inside the main ranch house, Johnson and Agnew spent more than an hour driving about the ranch and discussing the impressions gathered by Agnew in South Korea, Nationalist China, Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand.

Later, the two chatted with other members of the vice presidential party. Agnew's spokesman said the former president described the session as pleasant and cordial and Agnew agreed.

Orville J. Swartz of Wickliffe charged in his suit filed Wednesday in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court here that the actions of Steele and Swartz' wife, Barbara, disgraced and humiliated him.

Miss Patricia Ann George Weds John Robert Myers

MRS. JOHN ROBERT MYERS

How Family Church of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard George, Columbus, was the setting Aug. 22 for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann George and John Robert Myers. The 7:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo Sullivan.

The bride wore a formal length gown of white Chantilly lace over a tulle skirt designed with a Sabrina neckline sprinkled with iridescents and a natural waistline which topped a bouffant skirt of tier upon tier of lace ruffles which swept gracefully to a chapel length train. Long traditional sleeves enhanced the gown which was accented with a self-bow at the back waistline. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet crown of lace, pearl and crystal.

Her attendants were identically attired in formal length gowns of aqua chiffon over tulle styled with rounded necklines and sheer bishop sleeves adorned with dimensional white flowers. Their waistlines were encircled with a band of white ribbon which was repeated at the edge of the hemline. They wore matching headpieces with jet veils.

The bride is the daughter of

Miss Patricia Ann George Weds John Robert Myers

MRS. JOHN ROBERT MYERS

Holy Family Church of Columbus, was the setting Aug. 22 for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann George and John Robert Myers. The 7:30 p.m. ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo Sullivan.

The bride wore a formal length gown of white Chantilly lace over bridal taffeta designed with a Sabrina neckline sprinkled with iridescents and a natural waistline which topped a bouffant skirt of tier upon tier of lace ruffles which swept gracefully to a chapel length train. Long traditional sleeves enhanced the gown which was accented with a self-bow at the back waistline. Her veil of illusion fell from a coronet crown of lace, pearl and crystal.

Her attendants were identically attired in formal length gowns of aqua chiffon over taffeta styled with rounded necklines and sheer bishop sleeves adorned with dimensional white flowers. Their waistlines were encircled with a band of white ribbon which was repeated at the edge of the hemline. They wore matching headpieces with jet veils.

The bride is the daughter of

Waitresses

Win Fight

For Dinner

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Delighted that they'll be serving President Nixon's state dinner today after all, waitresses at the Hotel del Coronado are raising no further fuss.

The women's liberationists raised howls after an announcement that the waitresses would be replaced by waiters for the black-tie dinner honoring Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz.

The White House said it was all a misunderstanding.

"Whether it was a misunderstanding or a backdown is open to question," one waitress observed. "What counts is that we'll be there."

"We're delighted," added Ivy Easley, who has acted as the waitresses' spokesman.

A spokesman at the Western White House in San Clemente said Tuesday the controversy grew out of a request for males waiters to assist the waitresses and because protocol traditionally has men serving formal state affairs.

Tom Kerr, catering manager at the Del Coronado, said he was "very pleased" with the White House decision.

He said present plans call for about 30 waitresses to be "evenly spread" around the room serving the more than 600 guests together with male waiters who will outnumber them "about four to one."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Children of all ages obviously were charmed by an ABC midseason replacement last year called "The Nanny and the Professor," which seems to be a mix of standard situation comedy, Mary Poppins and James M. Barrie whimsy.

A large segment of the early evening audiences loved it and it won renewal for a full season. Among other things, it has introduced another member of the illustrious acting and writing British Mills family to American audiences.

Juliet Mills, daughter of actor John Mills and playwright Mary Hayley Bell and sister of actress Hayley Mills, has had lots of British stage and film experience. After making two pilots for "Nanny" over two years she had forgotten about television and was busy on the London stage when the summons came. The series had been sold, and four days later, Juliet was in Hollywood working on it.

She plays a gay creature named Phoebe Figally who mysteriously turned up at the home of a widowed professor and his unruly children just when he needed help most desperately. She has strange powers of prediction and understanding of children and animals.

"I suppose she has psychic powers," said Miss Mills as she rested between shots and the shaggy dog who play Waldo slept at her feet. "But there is nothing about her ESP that can not be explained logically or by coincidence. Besides, I think it's nice for people to believe in a bit of magic—I do myself."

The Mills family is close knit. This season Juliet, installed with her 6-year-old son in a rented Hollywood home, hopes to have them with her for their Christmas reunion. Meanwhile, her father will appear in an episode of the series and her mother will write at least one show, maybe more.

ful and I like working the series," she said. "I think I could be very happy with it for six months each year for three or four years."

Variety reports that Tony Franciosa and NBC's "The Name of the Game" have split. The actor, one of the three male stars who rotate as leads in the series, has on several occasions been unhappy about his part. Recently Universal Studio replaced him in an episode when he balked at the story. Because of the break-away format of the series, replacement probably will be simply a matter of hiring another actor to play a playboy reporter for a magazine.

Logan Man

Faces Retrial

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — The conviction of Sterling Lewis, former laboratory technician at the Hocking Valley Community Hospital, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the hospital, has been reversed by the 4th District Court of Appeals.

The reversal decision was based by the appeals court on an Ohio Supreme Court decision in a companion case involving Lewis' wife, Libby.

Unlike the Supreme Court ruling which was a complete reversal, the appellate court remanded the Sterling Lewis case back to the Hocking County Common Pleas Court for possible retrial.

Judge Earl Stephenson said the basic difference in the two cases was that there was no evidence in Mrs. Lewis' case that John Sappington, former administrator, received checks from or had an interest in a bank account of the Lindsay Consulting Service. In Lewis' case there was such evidence, the court said.

Sappington was indicted along with Lewis and his wife and was tried more than a year ago by Judge Robert Tague. No decision has been made in that case.

Ohio Schools Still Facing Financial Pinch

By GEORGE DELL
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Financial problems trouble many Ohio school systems as they open for classes this month, though for most, enrollment pressure is easing and teachers are easier to find.

An estimated 2,435,000 students will crowd into the state's public schools when most open for fall classes Tuesday. That's an increase of 10,000, the smallest growth of recent years and less than half the 25,000 jump last year.

Lower birth rates are responsible, according to Deputy State Supt. of Education Franklin Walter.

This year's increase of less than a half per cent compares with an increased enrollment of 3.3 per cent ten years ago, he said.

Parochial school enrollment is expected to be the same or slightly less than last year—about 345,000, Walter said. All of Ohio's school districts, including those with financial problems, will open this year, although one, New Carlisle-Bethel in Clark County, will delay its first day of classes until October.

The Ohio Legislature eased financial pressure on some districts when it appropriated $26 million in surplus state funds for schools in May.

Yet many school districts will be hard-pressed to maintain programs if voters don't approve levies in elections this fall, Walter said.

One such district is the affluent Columbus suburb of Upper Arlington.

Drawing many of its residents from the faculty of nearby Ohio State University, Upper Arlington has long prided itself in its support for education.

Yet, twice in the past year Upper Arlington voters have rejected levies that would have boosted school taxes from 34.8 to 42.7 mills.

Upper Arlington's schools opened Tuesday, and the effect of the levy's failure was apparent.

Elementary students were charged $10 for supplies for the first time in the district's history. Despite an enrollment increase of 100 students, the teaching staff was cut by 40. The average elementary class increased in size from 24½ to 28 students. One new, 18-classroom elementary school will not open this year for lack of funds to staff and maintain it.

The levy will again face voters in November.

"We've said we're not going to curtail any more," said Upper Arlington Supt. Walter Heischman. If the levy fails, "we'll continue till the money is exhausted, then close."

Heischman feels Upper Arlington's problem "is similar to problems in other school districts. There's a reluctance on the part of citizens to pay more school taxes."

There are some bright spots in the Ohio school picture.

The teacher shortage of recent years has eased. Most school districts have expanded vocational and special education programs this year.

Deputy State Supt. Walter reported few problems finding teachers, except for vocational and special education.

In addition to a growing supply of teachers, some school districts have stabilized or cut back teaching staffs. Columbus, for example, this week announced plans to reduce its staff by 120 teachers. The cutback is an economy move, but leveling school enrollment has made cuts easier than in past years.

School districts are giving increased attention to special and vocational education, spurred on by state grants provided to match local funds.

Walter estimated an additional 700 to 750 special education teachers will be used across the state this fall. The teachers, who work with the mentally retarded, the deaf and blind and those with speech or hearing problems, represent the greatest single staff expansion in Ohio schools.

This is also the first year of the statewide vocational education plan, adopted in July. Under the plan, neighboring school districts will increasingly share vocational facilities, though the plan does not take complete effect until 1974.

Expanded special and vocational education programs are encouraging students to remain in school longer, Walter observed.

Cannon Wins Renomination In Nevada

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nevada Sen. Howard W. Cannon, a two-term Democratic incumbent, has won renomination easily to meet Republican William Raggio in a November test of the political potency of President Nixon's backing.

Cannon and Raggio defeated little known opponents Tuesday in winning their party nominations.

In a statewide television appearance afterward, they agreed the major campaign issues would be the economy and law and order. Both back the President's Southeast Asia policies.

Cannon's seat is one of eight the administration needs to wrest Senate control from the Democrats. Raggio agreed to make the race after receiving several telephone calls from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who will campaign for the candidate later this month.

In other primary contests in Nevada Rep. Walter S. Baring, the state's top vote-getter, virtually won re-election to a 10th term as the state's only congressman by taking the Democratic nomination.

J. Robert Charles, a former Las Vegas hotel security guard, won the GOP congressional nomination but is not considered a serious threat to Baring.

Republican Lt. Gov. Ed Fike, a Las Vegas businessman, will meet Democrat Mike O'Callaghan, a one-legged ex-Marine from Carson City, in the fall governor's race. Two others are in that contest.

In North Dakota GOP Rep. Mark Andrews easily won renomination for a fourth term in the state's East District. He will face Democrat James E. Brooks, 29, a Fargo insurance man.

In the West District the GOP primary contenders, party leadership endorsed Richard Elkin and maverick Robert McCamey, were in a virtual deadlock.

The winner will face state Rep. Arthur A. Link who was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

Democratic Sen. Quentin N. Burdick will face GOP Rep. Thomas S. Kleppe in November. Both were unopposed in their parties' senatorial primaries.

Voters To Decide Council Pay Hike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Voters here will consider an amendment at the November election to the Cincinnati Charter that would make pay for a Cincinnati councilman the same as an Ohio Legislator.

If approved, salaries for the city's nine councilmen would be raised from $8,000 to $12,500.

Raises would also follow each time the Ohio Legislature raised salaries for members.

Expohio Luck May Fall Today, Rain Forecast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Fair's good luck may be running out.

The weather forecast for Columbus calls for a 50 per cent chance of rain this afternoon and tonight and a continuing possibility of showers on Friday.

Beautiful weather, with sunny skies and moderate temperatures have pushed total attendance for the first seven days to 1,320,710—150,000 more than last year. A crowd of 175,000 attended Wednesday, about 3,000 more than the record seventh day crowd last year.

Today is governor's day and former Democratic governor Frank J. Lausche was to arrive in Columbus to attend the fair with Roger Cloud, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, and Gov. James A. Rhodes. Lausche has announced his endorsement of Cloud.

Two of the biggest shows of the fair will close out "Expohio '70." The Johnny Cash show will play through Friday, to be followed on Saturday by the Bob Hope show. The 12-day fair ends Monday, Labor Day.

Social Security Answers

Q — I have already made over $7,800 this year. Now that I've changed jobs, I'm still contributing to social security. Since I'll end up paying more than I should, can't I get some money back?

A — Yes. You'll get a refund after you file your Federal income tax return for 1970. The tax return is designed to show any overpayment of social security contributions during the previous year.

Q — I often work for my husband in his business. He is the owner of a tavern. Is it possible for him to pay me wages and report them so I can become insured for social security benefits?

A — No. This is considered family employment and is not covered by social security. However, there are two exceptions. A wife can be covered by social security if her husband's business is incorporated or is a partnership in which at least one owner is not related to her.

Q — I retired a few years ago and began receiving social security payments. Recently, I returned to work. Must I contribute to social security now?

A — Yes, if your job is covered by social security. And this is likely, because over 90 per cent of all jobs are covered. The contributions must be paid without regard to retirement status, age, or whether you are getting social security payments. An important point is that the contributions may increase the social security payment you will receive when you again stop working, if your earnings are high enough.

Q — During the summer months, I usually hire a maid and a gardner. When must I report their wages?

A — If you pay your maid or gardner cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you must report the wages and send the social security contribution to the Internal Revenue Service. This report should be made during the first month after the quarter in which the wages were paid. Get a copy of "Social Security and Your Household Employee" (SSI-21) — from any social security office for more information on this subject.

Steel Workers Return To Jobs

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A strike begun Aug. 1 at Luxaire, Inc., of Elyria ended Wednesday when a vote on a new contract proposal was approved by a one-vote margin.

A spokesman for Local 6985 of the United Steel Workers of America said 251 members of the 350-member local voted on the 38-month contract and the vote was 126 for and 125 against. The firm manufactures heating and air conditioning equipment.

Court Reverses Slaying Conviction

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The Indiana Supreme Court Tuesday reversed the conviction of an Indianapolis woman and her daughter in the 1965 torture slaying of 16-year-old Sylvia Likens.

The court ordered new trials for Gertrude Baniszewski, 41, and her oldest daughter, Paula, 21. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment on May 24, 1966, in Marion County Criminal Court.

Supreme Court Judge Norman F. Arterburn, in Tuesday's opinion, said the women "did not receive a fair trial" because of the "prejudicial atmosphere" in the community and the trial court's refusal to grant a request to move the trial location, try the women separately or declare a mistrial because of publicity.

The President gives out balls bearing the presidential seal.

He gave Agnew one Tuesday and the vice president, who has hit a couple of competitors accidentally with misdirected tennis and golf balls this year, remarked:

"I've got one that says 'you have just been struck by' and then I sign it."

Spoilage Wastes 60 Per Cent Of Food

NEW YORK (AP) — Poor harvesting methods and spoilage of what is harvested because of lack of refrigeration and inadequate transportation contributes to wastage of at least 60 per cent of the food produced in underdeveloped countries, according to R. L. Tyler, president of Tyler Refrigeration of Clark Equipment.

Social Security Answers

Q — I have already made over $7,800 this year. Now that I've changed jobs, I'm still contributing to social security. Since I'll end up paying more than I should, can't I get some money back?

A — Yes. You'll get a refund after you file your Federal income tax return for 1970. The tax return is designed to show any overpayment of social security contributions during the previous year.

Q — I often work for my husband in his business. He is the owner of a tavern. Is it possible for him to pay me wages and report them so I can become insured for social security benefits?

A — No. This is considered family employment and is not covered by social security. However, there are two exceptions. A wife can be covered by social security if her husband's business is incorporated or is a partnership in which at least one owner is not related to her.

Q — I retired a few years ago and began receiving social security payments. Recently, I returned to work. Must I contribute to social security now?

A — Yes, if your job is covered by social security. And this is likely, because over 90 per cent of all jobs are covered. The contributions must be paid without regard to retirement status, age, or whether you are getting social security payments. An important point is that the contributions may increase the social security payment you will receive when you again stop working, if your earnings are high enough.

Q — During the summer months, I usually hire a maid and a gardener. When must I report their wages?

A — If you pay your maid or gardener cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you must report the wages and send the social security contribution to the Internal Revenue Service. This report should be made during the first month after the quarter in which the wages were paid. Get a copy of "Social Security and Your Household Employee" (SSI-21) — from any social security office for more information on this subject.

STEEL WORKERS RETURN TO JOBS

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A strike begun Aug. 1 at Luxaire, Inc., of Elyria ended Wednesday when a vote on a new contract proposal was approved by a one-vote margin.

A spokesman for Local 6985 of the United Steel Workers of America said 251 members of the 350-member local voted on the 38-month contract and the vote was 126 for and 125 against. The firm manufactures heating and air conditioning equipment.

Court Reverses Slaying Conviction

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—The Indiana Supreme Court Tuesday reversed the conviction of an Indianapolis woman and her oldest daughter in the 1963 slaying of 16-year-old Sylvia Likens.

The court ordered new trials for Gertrude Baniszewski, 41, and her oldest daughter, Paula, 21. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment on May 24, 1966, in Marion County Criminal Court.

Supreme Court Judge Norman F. Arterburn, in Tuesday's opinion, said the women "did not receive a fair trial" because of the "prejudicial atmosphere" in the community and the trial.

Agnew Golf Ball Is Personalized

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says he now has a personalized golf ball, as President Nixon does, but the Agnew ball is different.

The President gives out balls bearing the presidential seal.

He gave Agnew one Tuesday and the vice president, who has hit a couple of competitors accidentally with misdirected tennis and golf balls this year, remarked:

"I've got one that says 'you have just been struck by' and then I sign it."

Spoilage Wastes 60 Per Cent Of Food

NEW YORK (AP) — Poor harvesting methods and spoilage of what is harvested because of lack of refrigeration and inadequate transportation contributes to waste of at least 60 per cent of the food produced in underdeveloped countries, according to R. L. Tyler, president of Tyler Refrigeration of Clark Equipment.

Lake County Fair Injuries Bring Two Law Suits

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Painesville man has filed two suits totaling $40,460 against a company operating amusement rides at the Lake County Fair after his two children were injured on a kiddie ride at the fair.

The suits filed by Charles P. Eldridge against the Nolan Co. ask $27,280 for his daughter, Yvette, 2, and $13,180 for his son, Charles.

Eldridge claims his daughter was thrown under the ride when it started with a jolt and was dragged about 20 feet, causing her to suffer lacerations, contusions, bruises and a concussion.

Charles suffered internal kidney damage, shock and other injuries, the suit said.

The children were riding in separate cars when the accident occurred, Eldridge said.

At the local United Methodist Church last Sunday, the congregation heard a very inspirational sermon "A Story of Impossibilities" delivered by Rev. Carl Wetherell. Carol Green rendered a solo, "I'll Walk With God."

Next Sunday's service at the regular hour will find Mr. Orlan Burchwell and Randy as receptionists. Mrs. Miriam Crego and Miss Kelly Duvall will be in charge of the nursery.

The WSCS held their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the sanctuary with Mrs. Nellie Caldwell, Mrs. Emma McGhee, Cecile Kegg, Mrs. Clarice Palmer and Mrs. Sophia Wilkins as hostesses. Mrs. Clare Clark, district treasurer of the WSCS was guest speaker.

Services of Faith Baptist Church are being held at the regularly scheduled hours in the fire house. The officers of the church and the pastor, Gary Hohmann are well pleased with the response of the people in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hastings and family spent their vacation in and around Washington D. C. and historical spots in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Drake and family have returned from an 11-day vacation touring Niagara Falls, Canada, Prince Edward Island and interesting points in New England and other states in eastern United States.

Mrs. Emma Fausnaugh and Betty Margulis have returned from a three weeks vacation in the western states. While in California, they visited with Mrs. Icy (Trego) Peters and her daughter, Mrs. Betty Roth in Carmichael. Betty is dean of girls at Rio Linda High School in Carmichael.

Volpe Pushes Commuter Use Of Buses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has told states and cities to enhance commuter use of buses or take a loss in their share of federal highway money.

Volpe announced Tuesday that future allocations from the $5 billion highway trust fund would depend in part on provisions for exclusive bus highways, lanes, exit ramps and other preferential bus treatment.

He ordered federal road engineers in all 50 states to "encourage the greatest use of buses in preference to individual automobiles" in an effort to unclog traffic arteries.

The order affects construction and improvement of all federally-aided highways. The federal share can reach 90 per cent in such projects.

Government sources said the move is designed in part to disarm congressional critics who say the highway trust fund should be tapped for direct aid to mass transit, such as subway construction.

Transportation officials cautioned, however, that success of the bus-encouragement policy will depend largely on initiatives by city transit firms, many of which are in dire financial straits.

The government has financed bus experiments in recent years, but Tuesday's announcement was the first use of the clout carried by the highway trust money.

Wilbur Warner, Mrs. Robert Duvall, Miss Linda Warner and Miss Kelly Duvall, attended the Augst luncheon of the East Columbus Christian Women's Club at Ilonka's Party House last week. Mr. and Mrs. George Slaughter, workers in Christian Youth were speakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Duvall and daughter Kelly, visited Cedar Point, eastern Ohio and Niagara Falls last week.

I owe the Duvall family an apology. Two weeks ago in reporting the news, through confusion, I called Kelly a son instead of daughter Kelly. I am sorry. It was my error.

Of the many vacationers I have had this summer, one outstanding one was two weeks ago. By chance, I bumped into an old friend, Jesse Y. Wilson. We had a visit of over an hour and it was really enjoyable. He is in government service and chef in Merchant Marines. By his looks and weight gain, he is a good manager of food service. He is home and stationed at Galveston, Tex.

He and his wife spent 10 days visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson of Orient and other relatives. I enjoyed the visit, and I hope to see him again. He was one of our "home-town" boys.

Another visitor last Saturday evening — another home town boy, but now of Columbus, Alfred Rasor. He visited with several, but this was his first visit home in several years.

"Pard" says hello to everyone.

The fire department has been busy the past week — five fire calls and five emergency squad calls. No details were available, but no serious injuries and no fire loss.

Drivers Watch! School has started. Take extra precaution to protect the children as well as yourself.

Her many friends might call or send her a card.

The Slo-Pitch Softball tournament is going forward and at least 10 teams will participate this Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6. Come and see some of our former athletes in action. No admission charge, so plan to attend and see some interesting ball games.

Sun. Sept. 6 is the date for the Garden Tractor Pull and chicken barbecue at the school grounds. Come visit, eat some chicken and watch 'em pull. Weigh-in is at 10 a.m. with contests starting at noon. Plan to attend.

At the local United Methodist Church last Sunday, the congregation heard a very inspirational sermon "A Story of Impossibilities" delivered by Rev. Carl Wetherell. Carol Green rendered a solo, "I'll Walk With God."

Next Sunday's service at the regular hour will find Mr. Orlan Burchwell and Randy as receptionists. Mrs. Miriam Crego and Miss Kelly Duvall will be in charge of the nursery.

The WSCS held their regular meeting Tuesday evening in the sanctuary with Mrs. Nellie Caldwell, Mrs. Emma McGhee, Cecile Kegg, Mrs. Clarice Palmer and Mrs. Sophia Wilkins as hostesses. Mrs. Clare Clark, district treasurer of the WSCS was guest speaker.

Services of Faith Baptist Church are being held at the regularly scheduled hours in the fire house. The officers of the church and the pastor, Gary Hohmann are well pleased with the response of the people in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hastings and family spent their vacation in and around Washington D. C. and historical spots in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Drake and Randy have returned from an 11-day vacation touring Niagara Falls, Canada, Prince Edward Island and interesting points in New England and other states in eastern United States.

Mrs. Emma Fausnaugh and Betty Margulis have returned from a three weeks vacation in the western states. While in California, they visited with Mrs. Icy (Trego) Peters and her daughter, Mrs. Betty Roth in Carmichael. Betty is dean of girls at Rio Linda High School in Carmichael.

Volpe Pushes Commuter Use Of Buses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe has told states and cities to enhance commuter use of buses or take a loss in their share of federal highway money.

Volpe announced Tuesday that future allocations from the $5 billion highway trust fund would depend in part on provisions for exclusive bus highways, lanes, exit ramps and other preferential bus treatment.

He ordered federal road engineers in all 50 states to "encourage the greatest use of buses in preference to individual automobiles" in an effort to unclog traffic arteries.

The order affects construction and improvement of all federally-aided highways. The federal share can reach 90 per cent in such projects.

Government sources said the move is designed in part to disarm congressional critics who say the highway trust fund should be tapped for direct aid to mass transit, such as subway construction.

Transportation officials cautioned, however, that success of the bus-encouragement policy will depend largely on initiatives by city transit firms, many of which are in dire financial straits.

The government has financed bus experiments in recent years, but Tuesday's announcement was the first use of the clout carried by the highway trust money.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Parents Get 'K.P.' Duty

DEAR ABBY: Our 13-year-old daughter, Caroline, has started going with a guy named Angelo. He never takes her any place. He just comes over every night to watch television and wear out her sofa.

When Angelo comes over, the wife and I have to sit in the kitchen so he and Caroline can have their privacy in the living room. I suppose we could go in our bedroom, but who wants to go to bed at 7 o'clock?

So, every night lately, the wife and I sit in the kitchen like a couple of cockroaches trying to watch television on a dinky portable.

The wife is so happy that Caroline finally has a boy friend she doesn't say a word. I am getting tired of this setup. What should I do?

KITCHEN SITTER

DEAR SITTER: Send me a picture of Caroline and I'll tell you what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have only one child, Ellen, who is now 7. Since we aren't able to have any more we have decided to adopt a child, but here is our problem. We want a little girl Ellen's age not so much for ourselves but for Ellen. She is a shy child and has never made friends easily. Being an only child, she's inclined to be a little spoiled and, therefore, not easy to get along with. We feel that if Ellen had a sister her age it would relieve her loneliness and give her someone to keep her company.

We've spoken to several adoption agencies and they haven't been very encouraging. They seem to think we should adopt a younger child, and possibly a boy. But Abby, what kind of a companion would that be for our lonely little daughter? Also, isn't it true that when a new baby comes into a home, the older child becomes jealous and resentful?

Can you give us some advice?

ELLEN'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You appear to be more concerned with the needs of your own child than with the needs of an adopted child. To foist a "twin" on Ellen in order to provide her with a companion and relieve her loneliness could be a sad mistake for all. Why not take a foster child for a while and see how it works out? Or perhaps the Lord in His infinite wisdom intended for you to have only one?

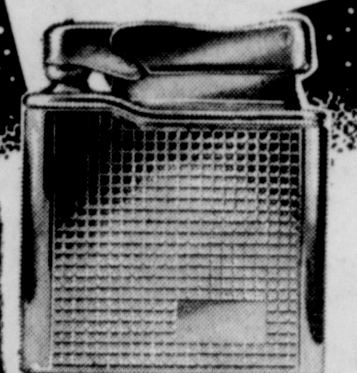

DEAR ABBY: My gripe is my landlady. She had a key to my apartment, saying she needed it in case of an emergency.

I know for a fact that this landlady has gone into my apartment and looked through my drawers, closets and my desk.

I asked a friend of mine who is a private detective if my landlady had the right to go into my apartment without my permission, and he said absolutely not! He also said if I suspected that mine did, I had the right to change the lock on my door and refuse to give her the key. Well, this is exactly

Senate OKs Spending Bill For Military Procurement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five weeks of debate on the weapons and cost of war and the ways and means of peace have left scars on the Senate but few dents in President Nixon's armor.

In 129½ hours of debate the Senate probed some of the most controversial proposals of the year, rejected most of them and left intact the buying power of a $19.2 billion procurement bill.

The Senate voted down several attempts to curb what critics branded as waste in military spending—attempts which included an ill-fated move to trim $5.2 billion from the $70.2 billion Defense Department budget.

Also turned back were attempts to forbid the use of crop- and forest-killing herbicides in Vietnam, bar the use of draftees in Vietnam, and compel the Pentagon to abide by its "fly-before-you-buy" spending guidelines.

The Senate did approve giving Congress power to set future troop levels and to limit spending for frequent rotation of military personnel.

It agreed to two amendments by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D. Ark., to forbid U.S. funds for support of foreign troops fighting for the governments of Laos and Cambodia.

The $19.2 billion bill now goes to a conference with the House where major differences to be settled are changes written by the Armed Services Committee, not on the Senate floor.

In terms of money, the most important is a $1.3 billion reduction from the spending level approved by the House.

In terms of policy, the most significant change is deletion of Pentagon authority to begin work on an area antiballistic missile system oriented toward a possible future attack from Communist China.

Two End Service At Oil Plant

Conrad Hunter, general manager of the Owens-Illinois Box Plant, announces the retirement of Frances Robinson Smith and William O. Hall who have a combined total of 72 years of service with Owens-Illinois.

Hall retires with 35 years of Owens-Illinois service which started back in 1935 when he was hired as a Sandblaster at 45 cents an hour at the Charleston Glass Container plant. He was promoted through the ranks of the company working as press operator, foreman and corrugator supervisor. He also served as local union president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association in 1944.

In 1965 he moved to Circleville and supervised the construction of the new Owens-Illinois Corrugated Box Plant and has served as Production Manager since the plant went into operation.

Upon retirement the Halls plan to move back to their farm in Ripley, W. Va.

Frances Smith came with the company in 1933 as a stenographer at the Charleston, W. Va. Glass Container plant where she advanced within the company to become secretary to the plant manager in 1947. She served a total of nine successive plant managers until 1962 when she was transferred to the Forest Products Division of Owens-Illinois in Charleston. When the plant was relocated in Circleville, she transferred as secretary to the plant manager and continued in that capacity until her recent retirement.

Her plans are to remain here in Circleville with her husband.

Storms Hit Midwest, Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms dumped heavy rain into the Midwest and parts of the Southeast today as cooler weather dipped into the Midcontinent.

Nearly 5 inches swamped the northwestern Iowa area around Spencer, according to an unofficial observer there. More than 2 1/2 inches soaked Sioux City. Two-inch drenchings hit Columbia, Mo., and Athens, Ga.

The storms that broke out in hot and humid air over the nation's midsections late Wednesday occasionally packed high winds. Gusts near 50 miles an hour walloped Wichita, Kan.

A tornado touched down briefly outside the western Missouri town of Holden late Wednesday and caused minor damage to a home. No injuries were reported.

Showers also dampened sections of the northern Rockies and ranged westward into the Pacific Northwest.

Pollution Race Won By Capri

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A Mercury Capri powered by lead-free gasoline was the most efficient in controlling pollution during the 3,600-mile 1970 Clean Air Car Race from Cambridge, Mass., to Pasadena, the judges say.

Results were announced Wednesday night at a banquet. The contest also was based on maintaining a standard of performance during the marathon event. Most cars checked in here Sunday.

Scientists will begin a post-race seminar Thursday to determine what was learned.

Revolutionary Jerry Rubin Uses Foundation Tax Shelter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, using the laws of "the system" he seeks to destroy, has set up a tax-exempt foundation to shield a major portion of his income from federal tax collectors.

The foundation, called the Social Education Foundation and also known as the Jerry Rubin Fund, holds the copyright on Rubin's best-selling, revolution-preaching book, "Do It!" Proceeds from the book go to the foundation and are thereby protected from income tax assessments.

Among other things, the Rubin book calls on young people to leave their homes, burn their schools and create a new society.

Legal papers filed with the Internal Revenue Service say the foundation would, among other things, use its funds for "relief of the poor, distressed and underprivileged... Lessen the burdens of government... defend human and civil rights secured by law... and make awards to citizens who render conspicuous service to the community."

The foundation, however, is 3 1/2 months delinquent in filing a mandatory tax statement with IRS.

The foundation was incorporated in New York in May 1969.

Robbery-Murder Suspects Hunted

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron police were searching today for two young men who shot and killed Francis K. Means, 66, in a robbery attempt at Means and his wife were returning home from their nightly stroll around the block on Akron's West Side.

Police said Mrs. Means told them she and her husband were nearing their home when the two young men came up behind them and one of them told Means, "I want your wallet." She said the youth repeated the statement after Means turned and as she turned, the youth shot her husband in the chest. Means was dead on arrival at Akron General Hospital.

Other members of the Chicago 7 in connection with the violent demonstrations in Chicago at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, could not be reached for elaboration.

How much money Rubin and other benefactors have shoveled into the foundation could not be determined. The tax statements of tax-exempt foundations are public records, but Rubin's foundation has not filed any tax statement.

"We have a normal setup," Carl Brandt, Rubin's New York literary agent said in a telephone interview. "Simon & Schuster (publishers of 'Do It!') send over the proceeds. I take my fee off the top and forward the rest to the foundation's mailing address." Brandt would not divulge the address.

Rubin's lawyer, Abraham L. Wax, would say even less.

"Write me a letter," he told a reporter.

The foundation papers filed last year say the organization had assets of $2,000 when formed.

Lausche Backs Roger Cloud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican gubernatorial candidate Roger Cloud has announced his endorsement by former Democratic U.S. Senator and governor Frank Lausche.

Lausche flew into Columbus today to visit the Ohio State Fair with Cloud and Gov. James A. Rhodes.

In a statement issued earlier, Lausche said, "I have known Roger Cloud as a public official since January 1949. I developed deep respect for his integrity, soundness of approach to governmental problems, devotion to the cause of Ohio's citizenry and his faithfulness to our system of government. I will cast my vote Nov. 3 for Roger Cloud."

Urge Recovery Action Against King Resources

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The special Franklin County Grand Jury investigating state investment policies Wednesday called on State Treasurer John D. Herbert and Atty. General Paul W. Brown to recover $4 million from Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc., and $8 million from King Resources, Inc.

The special panel has been investigating contents of an audit by State Auditor Roger Cloud concerning alleged illegal loans by the State School Employees Retirement System and the state treasurer's office investment in commercial paper.

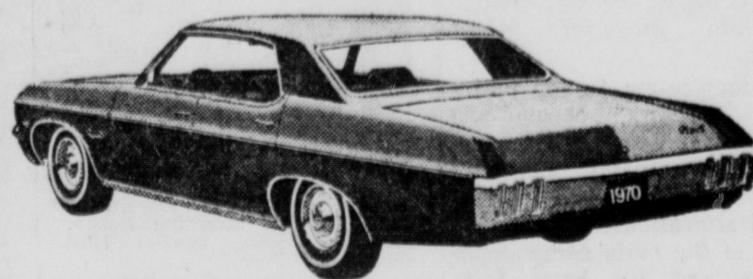

The grand jury went into recess Thursday after several weeks of hearing evidence and facts in the loan policies from Assistant Prosecutor John Peck. Peck said the jury would return Sept. 4 or earlier if additional testimony is made available.

The grand jury made its recommendation to the state officials in a letter which said action should be taken "in proper courts seeking to recover certain public funds which have heretofore been allegedly illegally loaned by the treasurer of Ohio."

Two End Service At Oil Plant

Conrad Hunter, general manager of the Owens-Illinois Box Plant, announces the retirement of Frances Robinson Smith and William O. Hall who have a combined total of 72 years of service with Owens-Illinois.

Hall retires with 35 years of Owens-Illinois service which started back in 1935 when he was hired as a Sandblaster at 45 cents an hour at the Charleston Glass Container plant. He was promoted through the ranks of the company working as press operator, foreman and corrugator supervisor. He also served as local union president of the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association in 1944.

In 1965 he moved to Circleville and supervised the construction of the new Owens-Illinois Corrugated Box Plant and has served as Production Manager since the plant went into operation.

Upon retirement the Halls plan to move back to their farm in Ripley, W. Va.

Frances Smith came with the company in 1933 as a stenographer at the Charleston, W. Va. Glass Container plant where she advanced within the company to become secretary to the plant manager in 1947. She served a total of nine successive plant managers until 1962 when she was transferred to the Forest Products Division of Owens-Illinois in Charleston. When the plant was relocated in Circleville, she transferred as secretary to the plant manager and continued in that capacity until her recent retirement.

Her plans are to remain here in Circleville with her husband.

Storms Hit Midwest, Southeast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms dumped heavy rain into the Midwest and parts of the Southeast today as cooler weather dipped into the Midcontinent.

Nearly 5 inches swamped the northwestern Iowa area around Spencer, according to an unofficial observer there. More than 2½ inches soaked Sioux City, Mo., and Athens, Ga.

The storms that broke out in hot and humid air over the nation's midsections late Wednesday occasionally packed high winds. Gusts near 50 miles an hour walloped Wichita, Kan.

A tornado touched down briefly outside the western Missouri town of Holden late Wednesday and caused minor damage to a home. No injuries were reported.

Showers also dampened sections of the northern Rockies and ranged westward into the Pacific Northwest.

Pollution Race Won By Capri

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A Mercury Capri powered by lead-free gasoline was the most efficient in controlling pollution during the 3,600-mile 1970 Clean Air Car Race from Cambridge, Mass., to Pasadena, the judges say.

Results were announced Wednesday night at a banquet. The contest also was based on maintaining a standard of performance during the marathon event. Most cars checked in here Sunday.

Scientists will begin a post-race seminar Thursday to determine what was learned.

Revolutionary Jerry Rubin Uses Foundation Tax Shelter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, using the laws of "the system" he seeks to destroy, has set up a tax-exempt foundation to shield a major portion of his income from federal tax collectors.

The foundation, called the Social Education Foundation and also known as the Jerry Rubin Fund, holds the copyright on Rubin's best-selling, revolution-preaching book, "Do It!" Proceeds from the book go to the foundation and are thereby protected from income tax assessments.

Among other things, the Rubin book calls on young people to leave their homes, burn their schools and create a new society.

Legal papers filed with the Internal Revenue Service say the foundation would, among other things, use its funds for "relief of the poor, distressed and underprivileged... Lessen the burdens of government... defend human and civil rights secured by law... and make awards to citizens who render conspicuous service to the community."

The foundation, however, is 3½ months delinquent in filing a mandatory tax statement with IRS.

The foundation was incorporated in New York in May 1969.

The sole trustee is Nancy S. Kurshan, identified in the past as Rubin's wife.

How much money Rubin and other benefactors have shoveled into the foundation could not be determined. The tax statements of tax-exempt foundations are public records, but Rubin's foundation has not filed any tax statement.

And his literary agent and lawyer aren't saying how much he's made.

"We have a normal setup," Carl Brandt, Rubin's New York literary agent said in a telephone interview. "Simon & Schuster (publishers of 'Do It!') send over the proceeds, I take my fee off the top and forward the rest to the foundation's mailing address." Brandt would not divulge the address.

Rubin's lawyer, Abraham L. Wax, would say even less.

The foundation papers filed last year say the organization had assets of $2,000 when formed.

Rubin, convicted with four other members of the Chicago 7 in connection with the violent demonstrations in Chicago at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, could not be reached for elaboration.

Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, who first heard of the foundation, called it "a disgrace and an affront to the ordinary law-abiding citizens of this country that a man like Rubin should be granted a tax haven for the profits of his propaganda. The director of the IRS should revoke his tax exemption."

"We should not be forced to subsidize our own destruction with our own taxes."

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron police were searching today for two young men who shot and killed Francis K. Means, 66, in a robbery attempt as Means and his wife were returning home from their nightly stroll around the block on Akron's West Side.

Police said Mrs. Means told them she and her husband were nearing their home when the two young men came up behind them and one of them told Means, "I want your wallet."

She said the youth repeated the statement after Means turned and as she turned, the youth shot her husband in the chest.

Means was dead on arrival at Akron General Hospital.

Tractor Pulling Requires Skill As Well As Power

They're at the starting line with engines roaring and turbochargers screaming, then they're off to the shouts of thousands of fans.

But it's not at a drag strip, it's at a fairgrounds in the farmlands and the contestants are engaged in one of the newest — yet oldest — forms of racing — tractor pulling.

Tractor pulling is a fast growing sport and, though the prize money is low, the participants are willing to spend big money to alter their machines to gain more power.

Sometimes, like in auto racing, the expenditures quickly go up in smoke. When an engine blew up in front of 19,000 spectators at a recent meet in Louisville, the announcer shouted: "There goes a thousand dollar bill!"

ONE contestant pointed out that his LP-gas tractor was rated at 110 horsepower when it came from the factory. He had a turbocharger installed for field work, raising it to 200 HP, and he somehow had it putting out over 500 HP during the contest.

Many owners buy brand new engines and then rebuild them, just as do car racers. Others change the front to rear weight ratio, change the driving seat to the front of the rig, change wheels and tires for better traction.

And they're no longer plain-looking tractors. Many are customized with air-scoops, pearlescent paint, racing stripes, decals and other stylized alterations.

"One of the main components is tires and we have been deluged lately with requests for our newest tractor tires, which develop about 16 per cent greater pulling power than other models," said D. E. Weidman, manager of farm tire sales for The Firestone Tire Rubber Company.

So important are the tires to the pulling effort that most drivers will sharpen the edges of the tire lugs before each pull. They use either a file or a grinding wheel to put knife-like edges on them Weidman said.

He said that statistics on tractor pulling contests are not kept accurately "but we do know that Firestone tires have been on virtually every winning tractor in the past year."

TO provide better statistics and to coordinate contest dates, contestants have formed the National Tractor Pullers Association.

The NTPA has held several Grand National events this summer and the World Championship Tractor Pulling Contest is set for September 19-21 near Bloomington, Ill.

Unsurprisingly, Andretti's drivers may not be, but they do have their own specialized skills to pull the giant slabs hooked to their tractors.

It takes more than sheer power to win one of these races. Staying power and the ability to keep the tires from digging too deeply and keeping the full rig on a straight course are of utmost importance.

The "reading" of a track to determine just the right tire pressure can result in a win or a loss, one driver said.

"Even one or two pounds can make the difference," the Firestone executive said. "Some drivers dig a pocket knife into the track. If the dirt chunks they then raise the tire pressure."

SEVERAL years ago when tractor pulling and plowing contests were features of county fairs, contestants entered as a single group. Today there are classifications for the various sizes and types.

Weight classes are 5,000; 7,000; 9,000; and 12,000 pounds for "stock block" models. Then there are the 7,000 and 12,000 pound and up classes for the "hot rods," some of which include converted airplane engines, tank engines, race car engines and even two or more hooked in series.

"We may not go as fast as stock cars, but it's just as exciting and a lot safer," one driver said. "We get all the thrills of racing without the danger."

Ten Races Slated For Friday At SD

With just ten nights remaining in the 1970 season at Scioto Downs before the Sept. 15th final, the plush suburban Columbus harness spa, has scheduled two great ten race cards this Friday and Saturday night.

Friday night in the $6,000 Invitational Handicap Trot, the track trotting champion, Hiland Hill, the son of B. F. Coaltown, owned by Dr. John Jackman of Columbus, returns to take on the current trotting aces Lynn Lee, Lil Rodney, Mystic Boy, Midnight Ronnie, Thelma Gallon, and the famed Cyrano. Hiland Hill set the track trotting standard last year in 1:59 2-5.

Saturday night in the $6,000 Invitational Handicap Pace, Lightning Wave, the son of Shadow Wave owned by the Double Z and P stable of Middletown, Ohio, will put his speed to test against Curly Smart's Leander Lobel, Direct Sammy, Scot Galophone, Darn Vita, and Cissy T. Adios.

Lightning Wave with the veteran Marc Ferguson in the sulky, owns a mile mark of 1:59 and last week finished second by a neck to Robert E. Adios in an epic pacing duel in 1:58 3-5. Leander Lobel from the Gotham stable of New York, has a 2 yr-old mark of 1:58 3-5, and is priming for the $10,000 added Jug Trial at Scioto on Sept. 14th. Direct Sammy has a victory in 1:59 2-5 this year while Scot Galophone owned and driven by Phil Lang of Xenia, Ohio has won in 2:01 3-5. Cissy T. Adios was involved in that classic pacing battle on July 18th when she finished third by a nose in two minutes.

Columbus Jets To End Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The International League wraps up regular season play tonight with Columbus at Louisville and "Winnipeg at Toledo".

The Columbus Jets, who announced Wednesday that this would be their last season in Ohio's capital city, dropped their second straight game to Louisville Wednesday night, 6-7 in an 11th inning overtime.

Toledo and Winnipeg continued to battle it out for last place in league standings as the Mud Hens defeated the Whips 9-4. Both teams now have identical 51-win, 88-loss records.

In other play, league-leading Syracuse lost to Rochester 6-2, and Richmond topped Tidewater, 11-5.

Mustangs, Braves, Vikings Fare Well In Pre-Season Tilts

All three Pickaway County schools played pre-season scrimmages Wednesday night with Logan Elm and Teays Valley on top and Westfall losing to Amanda-Clearcreek.

Teays Valley Coach Dick Kidwell singled out offensive backs Champ Henson and Bob Tucker as doing "exceptional jobs" as the Vikings took Buckeye Valley, 8-2, in a controlled scrimmage.

"Our offensive line looked better than it did in the Fairfield Union game and our second unit scored twice," Kidwell commented.

The Viking mentor also singled out the defensive work of middle guard, Chuck Frazier, and the improvement of the TV linebackers.

LOGAN Elm's first offense scored a touchdown against Berne Union and the No. 1 defense gave up a touchdown.

The Braves' No. 2 offense scored twice, on passes from Steve Fischer to Brent Luckhart and Bob Brown. The No. 2 defense intercepted two Berne Union passes.

The Braves No. 1 defense against the visitors looked good on the ground but gave up yardage on passing.

"Westfall showed a vast improvement over our last scrimmage," Mustang mentor Bill Vance said. "Although we didn't score we moved the ball well and were inside their ten yard line twice."

Westfall will host Triad High School 10 a.m. Saturday and Teays Valley will play on the Bears on waivers.

The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran cornerback Alvin Mitchell from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice and obtained tight end Austin Denny from the Chicago Bears on waivers.

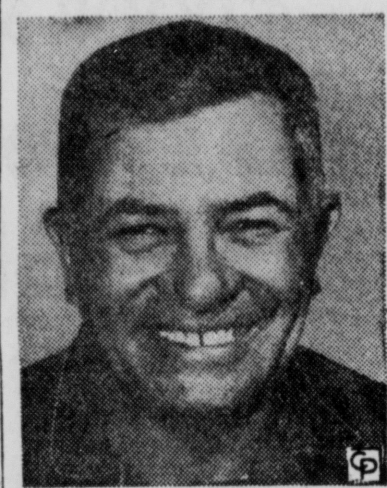

The Eagles' action was more of a wholesale chop as eight players felt the axe, including running back Harry Wilson, their No. 3 draft choice in 1967 whose pro career has been hampered by injuries.

Several veterans also found new homes after being put on waivers.

Defensive tackle Jim Weatherwax of the Green Bay Packers was acquired by the St. Louis Cardinals and the Minnesota Vikings, still without No. 1 quarterback Joe Kapp, picked up Kent Nix from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran cornerback Alvin Mitchell from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice and obtained tight end Austin Denny from the Chicago Bears on waivers.

Lombardi Dies At Age 57

Vince Lombardi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vince Lombardi, Washington Redskins coach and onetime ruler of a football dynasty with the Green Bay Packers, died today of cancer. He was 57.

A spokesman at Georgetown University Hospital said Lombardi succumbed at 7:12 a.m. EDT, his wife, Marie, at his side.

Lombardi, the only man in the history of the National Football League playoffs to win three straight championships, had undergone two operations within a month in his battle with the disease.

Mrs. Lombardi had confirmed Wednesday the gravity of the ailment. She said the cancer was "extraordinarily virulent."

His name became legendary for the feats he accomplished at Green Bay, a small city in Wisconsin.

Chisox Manager Gutteridge Fired

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitching coach Joe Becker of the Chicago Cubs was released from the hospital Wednesday. On Aug. 12 he was hospitalized with what Dr. Jacob Sukor diagnosed as an "irregular heart."

Wadkins Leads U.S. Amateur

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, who became weekend golfer for something to do, slid through the Waverly Country Club course as smoothly as his southern drawl for a 3-under-par 67 Wednesday and a one-stroke lead in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Wadkins, 20, a junior at Wake Forest, reeled off three birdies and never a bogey during his 34-33 round. He held a one-stroke lead over Gary Sanders, 20, of Buena Park, Calif., as the tournament moved into the second round today on the 6,496-yard course.

Packel at 1-under-par 69s were five amateurs including Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., the 1966 champ, and James Simons of Butler, Pa., like Wadkins a junior at Wake Forest.

Defending champion Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., was four strokes behind Wadkins at 71.

The field of 150 will be cut after today's round to the low 60s and ties. The tournament ends Saturday.

Holton Drives Four Winners At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-eight-year-old Terry Holton of Newark rode four winners in five trips Wednesday night at Scioto Downs. Only one driver — Wayne "Curly" Smart — has ever ridden more than four winners here. Smart won five races in one night in 1961.

In the $1,600 feature pace, Halo's Princess came on in the stretch to win by 3/4 length and pay $10.60, $5.20 and $3.40. Miss Flying M was second for $3.80 and $2.80 and London Hal showed for $2.20.

The 3-1 double combination of Duane Purdue and Plum Pudding returned $41.80 while a 2-6 quinella was worth $24. A crowd of 4,139 wagered $185,724.

cleville added a two point conversion in a controlled scrimmage game Wednesday at London.

The Tigers crossed the goal line on a 60-yard pass from Tom Bowers to Mike Webb in Circleville's first offense series. A Bowers to Dave Truex throw was good for the conversion.

London marched 60 yards to put six points on the scoreboard. A 30-yard pass moved the Raiders downfield where they scored on a short plunge.

"We are pleased with our showing," Tiger coach Denny Williams offered, "and we are improving all the time."

"OUR first defensive team looked good against Groveport," the Tigers coaching staff offered, "and looked equally as good today."

London's offense, reputed to be explosive, was kept under control by the tough Tiger defensive unit. The front defenders kept the Red Raider runners in check while the Red and Black secondary picked off aerial attempts by London.

Circleville's offensive unit showed signs of coming to life control by the tough Tiger on the ground and Bowers and Webb connected in the air.

"We moved the ball a little better this week," Coach Williams stated, "but we are still making too many mistakes and require a lot of work to get things where we want them."

The Tigers will not have any more scrimmage games and will devote time and energy to preparation for the season opener with Grove City on Sept. 11.

In other South Central Ohio League action Wednesday Washington C. H. beat Waverly four touchdowns to one, Wilmington lost to Fairborn Baker five touchdowns to one, Adena scored four touchdowns and limited Greenfield to one marker and Wells' on edged Hillsboro two touchdowns to one.

Wadkins Leads U.S. Amateur

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins, who became weekend golfer for something to do, slid through the Waverly Country Club course as smoothly as his southern drawl for a 3-under-par 67 Wednesday and a one-stroke lead in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship.

Wadkins, 20, a junior at Wake Forest, reeled off three birdies and never a bogey during his 34-33 round. He held a one-stroke lead over Gary Sanders, 20, of Buena Park, Calif., as the tournament moved into the second round today on the 6,496-yard course.

Packel at 1-under-par 69s were five amateurs including Gary Holton of Kitchener, Ont., the 1966 champ, and James Simons of Butler, Pa., like Wadkins a junior at Wake Forest.

Defending champion Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., was four strokes behind Wadkins at 71.

The field of 150 will be cut after today's round to the low 60s and ties. The tournament ends Saturday.

Holton Drives Four Winners At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-eight-year-old Terry Holton of Newark rode four winners in five trips Wednesday night at Scioto Downs. Only one driver — Wayne "Curly" Smart — has ever ridden more than four winners here. Smart won five races in one night in 1961.

In the $1,600 feature pace, Halo's Princess came on in the stretch to win by 3/4 length and pay $10.60, $5.20 and $3.40. Miss Flying M was second for $3.80 and $2.80 and London Hal showed for $3.20.

The 3-1 double combination of Duane Purdue and Plum Pudding returned $41.80 while a 2-6 quinella was worth $24. A crowd of 4,139 wagered $185,724.

Tractor Pulling Requires Skill As Well As Power

They're at the starting line with engines roaring and turbochargers screaming, then they're off to the shouts of thousands of fans.

But it's not at a drag strip, it's at a fairgrounds in the farmlands and the contestants are engaged in one of the newest — yet oldest — forms of racing — tractor pulling.

Tractor pulling is a fast growing sport and, though the prize money is low, the participants are willing to spend big money to alter their machines to gain more power.

Sometimes, like in auto racing, the expenditures quickly go up in smoke. When an engine blew up in front of 19,000 spectators at a recent meet in Louisville, the announcer shouted: "There goes a thousand dollar bill!"

ONE contestant pointed out that his LP-gas tractor was rated at 110 horsepower when it came from the factory. He had a turbocharger installed for field work, raising it to 200 HP, and he somehow had it putting out over 500 HP during the contest.

Many owners buy brand new engines and then rebuild them, just as do car racers. Others change the front to rear weight ratio, change the driving seat to the front of the rig, change wheels and tires for better traction.

And they're no longer plain-looking tractors. Many are customized with air-scoops, pearlescent paint, racing stripes, decals and other stylized alterations.

"One of the main components is tires and we have been deluged lately with requests for our newest tractor tires, which develop about 16 per cent greater pulling power than other models," said D. E. Weidman, manager of farm tire sales for The Firestone Tire Rubber Company.

So important are the tires to the pulling effort that most drivers will sharpen the edges of the tire lugs before each pull. They use either a file or a grinding wheel to put knife-like edges on them Weidman said.

He said that statistics on tractor pulling contests are not kept accurately "but we do know that Firestone tires have been on virtually every winning tractor in the past year."

TO provide better statistics and to coordinate contest dates, contestants have formed the National Tractor Pullers Association.

The NTPA has held several Grand National events this summer and the World Championship Tractor Pulling Contest is set for September 19-21 near Bloomington, Ill.

Unsurprisingly, Andretti's drivers may not be, but they do have their own specialized skills to pull the giant slabs hooked to their tractors.

It takes more than sheer power to win one of these races. Staying power and the ability to keep the tires from digging too deeply and keeping the full rig on a straight course are of utmost importance.

The "reading" of a track to determine just the right tire pressure can result in a win or a loss, one driver said.

"Even one or two pounds can make the difference," the Firestone executive said. "Some drivers dig a pocket knife into the track. If the dirt chunks they then raise the tire pressure."

SEVERAL years ago when tractor pulling and plowing contests were features of county fairs, contestants entered as a single group. Today there are classifications for the various sizes and types.

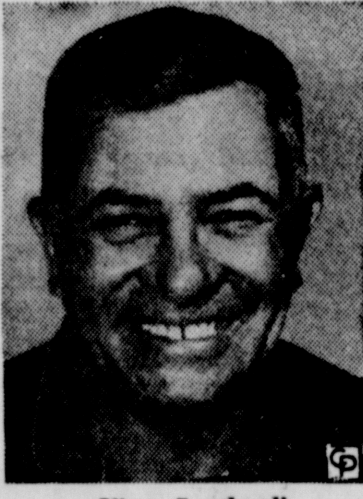

Weight classes are 5,000; 7,000; 9,000; and 12,000 pounds for "stock block" models. Then there are the 7,000 and 12,000 pound and up classes for the "hot rods," some of which include converted airplane engines, tank engines, race car engines and even two or more hooked in series.

"We may not go as fast as stock cars, but it's just as exciting and a lot safer," one driver said. "We get all the thrills of racing without the danger."

Lombardi Dies At Age 57

Vince Lombardi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vince Lombardi, Washington Redskins coach and onetime ruler of a football dynasty with the Green Bay Packers, died today of cancer. He was 57.

A spokesman at Georgetown University Hospital said Lombardi succumbed at 7:12 a.m. EDT, his wife, Marie, at his side.

Lombardi, the only man in the history of the National Football League playoffs to win three straight championships, had undergone two operations within a month in his battle with the disease.

Mrs. Lombardi had confirmed Wednesday the gravity of the ailment. She said the cancer was "extraordinarily virulent."

His name became legendary for the feats he accomplished at Green Bay, a small city in Wisconsin.

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitching coach Joe Becker of the Chicago Cubs was released from the hospital Wednesday. On Aug. 12 he was hospitalized with what Dr. Jacob Sukor diagnosed as an "irregular heart."

Ten Races Slated For Friday At SD

With just ten nights remaining in the 1970 season at Scioto Downs before the Sept. 15th final, the plush suburban Columbus harness spa, has scheduled two great ten race cards this Friday and Saturday night.

Friday night in the $6,000 Invitational Handicap Trot, the track trotting champion, Hiland Hill, the son of B. F. Coaltown, owned by Dr. John Jackman of Columbus, returns to take on the current trotting aces Lynn Lee, Lil Rodney, Mystic Boy, Midnight Ronnie, Thelma Gallon, and the famed Cyrano. Hiland Hill set the track trotting standard last year in 1:59 2-5.

Saturday night in the $6,000 Invitational Handicap Pace, Lightning Wave, the son of Shadow Wave owned by the Double Z and P stable of Middletown, Ohio, will put his speed to test against Curly Smart's Leander Lobel, Direct Sammy, Scot Galophone, Darn Vita, and Cissy T. Adios.

Lightning Wave with the veteran Marc Ferguson in the sulky, owns a mile mark of 1:59 and last week finished second by a neck to Robert E. Adios in an epic pacing duel in 1:58 3-5. Leander Lobel from the Gotham stable of New York, has a 2 yr-old mark of 1:58 3-5, and is priming for the $10,000 added Jug Trial at Scioto on Sept. 14th. Direct Sammy has a victory in 1:59 2-5 this year while Scot Galophone owned and driven by Phil Lang of Xenia, Ohio has won in 2:01 3-5. Cissy T. Adios was involved in that classic pacing battle on July 18th when she finished third by a nose in two minutes.

Columbus Jets To End Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The International League wraps up regular season play tonight with Columbus at Louisville and "Winnipeg at Toledo."

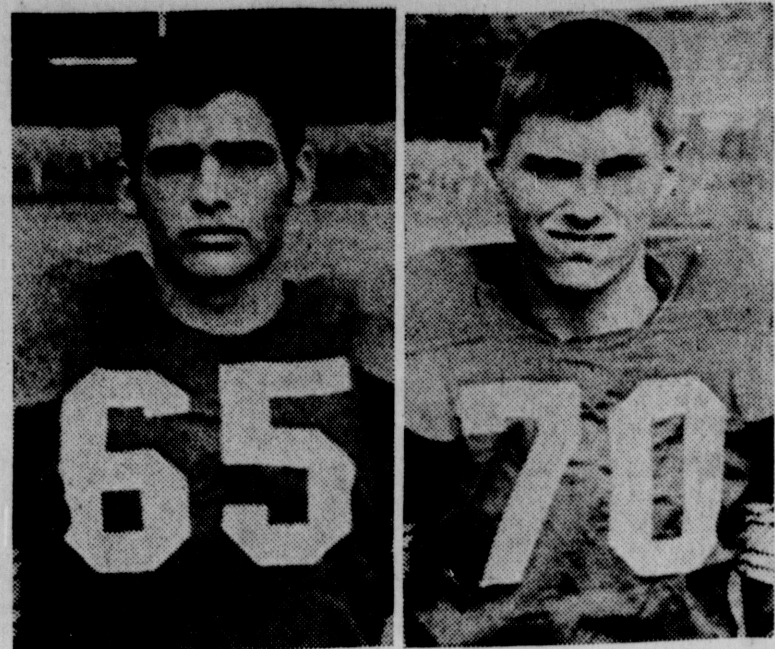

The Columbus Jets, who announced Wednesday that this would be their last season in Ohio's capital city, dropped their second straight game to Louisville Wednesday night, 6-7 in an 11th inning overtime.

Toledo and Winnipeg continued to battle it out for last place in league standings as the Mud Hens defeated the Whips 9-4. Both teams now have identical 51-win, 88-loss records.

In other play, league-leading Syracuse lost to Rochester 6-2, and Richmond topped Tidewater, 11-5.

Mustangs, Braves, Vikings Fare Well In Pre-Season Tilts

All three Pickaway County schools played pre-season scrimmages Wednesday night with Logan Elm and Teays Valley on top and Westfall losing to Amanda-Clearcreek.

Teays Valley Coach Dick Kidwell singled out offensive backs Champ Henson and Bob Tucker as doing "exceptional jobs" as the Vikings took Buckeye Valley, 8-2, in a controlled scrimmage.

"Our offensive line looked better than it did in the Fairfield Union game and our second unit scored twice," Kidwell commented.

The Viking mentor also singled out the defensive work of middle guard Chuck Frazier, and the improvement of the TV linebackers.

LOGAN Elm's first offense scored a touchdown against Berne Union and the No. 1 defense gave up a touchdown.

The Braves' No. 2 offense scored twice, on passes from Steve Fischer to Brent Luckhart and Bob Brown. The No. 2 defense intercepted two Berne Union passes.

The Braves No. 1 defense against the visitors looked good on the ground but gave up yardage on passing.

"Westfall showed a vast improvement over our last scrimmage," Mustang mentor Bill Vance said. "Although we didn't score we moved the ball well and were inside their ten yard line twice."

Westfall will host Triad High School 10 a.m. Saturday and Teays Valley will play on the

Sam Baker Given Boost By Eagles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sam Baker has been kicking around the National Football League since 1953. Now he's been given the boot.

The 39-year-old veteran from Nebraska, No. 2 scorer in NFL history with 977 points, was cut Wednesday by Philadelphia as the Eagles and the rest of the teams continued trimming their rosters.

The Eagles' action was more of a wholesale chop as eight players felt the axe, including running back Harry Wilson, their No. 3 draft choice in 1967 whose pro career has been hampered by injuries.

Several veterans also found new homes after being put on waivers.

Defensive tackle Jim Weatherwax of the Green Bay Packers was acquired by the St. Louis Cardinals and the Minnesota Vikings, still without No. 1 quarterback Joe Kapp, picked up Kent Nix from the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Buffalo Bills acquired veteran cornerback Alvin Mitchell from the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice and obtained tight end Austin Denny from the Chicago Bears on waivers.

Favored Timothy T Wins Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Timothy T overcame an allergy and the challenge of a new acquaintance to make John Simpson Jr., 27, the youngest harness driver ever to win the Hambletonian Trotting Stake Wednesday.

Clay Is Back! Foes Tumble

ATLANTA (AP) — Cassius Clay is back.

The former heavyweight champion, returning to the ring for the first time in more than three years, breezed through eight exhibition rounds Wednesday night and soundly defeated three opponents in the process.

"I came here expecting to see nothing and I saw it all," said Clay's trainer, Angelo Dundee of Miami, Fla. "All the bricks are in place; it's all there to work on and nothing is missing."

"His legs were perfect; his timing was there, it was beautiful. He's just amazing."

Clay, although 10 pounds above his last fighting weight of 211, was unmarked and only slightly winded as he defeated opponents Rufus Brasell of Lima, Ohio, Johnny Hudgins of Miami, Fla., and George Hill of Philadelphia, Pa. There were no knockdowns.

The brown colt's triumph in the Du Quoin State Fair trotting classic marked the first time the offspring of a winning Hambletonian team had duplicated the success.

Timothy T's sire, Ayres, won the 1964 Hambletonian with John Simpson's father, John Sr., in the sulky. They had an easier time of it, taking heats in a row with times of 1:56 4/5 and 1:58 1/5. Ayres' fastest time is still the race record. Timothy T had to go three heats. His winning times were 2:00 1/5 and 2:00 3/5. Between his triumphs, little-known Formal Notice streaked to a 1:55 2/5 victory.

In the few days before the race, Timothy T, a 5-2 favorite, had been troubled with a cough. Young Simpson said the problem was diagnosed as an allergy caused by "hot hat, pollen dust, who knows?"

"He was as good today as he's ever been," John Jr. insisted after Wednesday's victory.

The senior Simpson, who owns Timothy and once trained and drove the horse, was not critical of his son's driving after the second-heat loss, and was still confident the colt could win.

Young Simpson said he had never seen Formal Notice before Wednesday's race. He was "very impressed" with the Kimberly Kid offspring in the first heat, and "had even more respect" for the 8-1 shot after the second, he said.

"We just couldn't go enough to beat the winner the third heat," driver Jimmy Arthur said of Formal Notice. "He'd never even been two heats before so he didn't figure to be too strong... finishing second with as little racing under his belt is a tremendous accomplishment."

Prior to the Hambletonian, Formal Notice, owned by All-wood Stable of Far Hills, N.J., had started but seven times and had one victory, one second and three thirds for total earnings of $6,682. His second place in the Hambletonian summary (5-1-2) was worth $35,907.50.

Timothy T's triumph (1-2-1) paid $71,815 from a purse of $143,630, the largest in Hambletonian history and the most in a single harness race this year.

Simpson is the youngest driver to win the Hambletonian since Harry Harvey, 29, drove helicopter to victory in 1953.

Third place Wednesday went to Flower Child and Hugh Parshall (2-5-8) and was worth $17,236.60. Speedy Spin and Frank Ervin (4-3-3) won fourth and $11,490.40. Victory Star and Ver non Dancer (3-7-6) earned fifth money, $7,181.50.

Soviets Edge Closer In Gold Medals

TURIN, Italy (AP) — The Soviet Union, with 12 gold medals at stake today in the World University Games, moved into striking range of the United States that leads the team standings, 19 titles to 15 for the Soviets.

The Soviets picked up six golds on Wednesday, while the Americans got none and their 10-medal margin was cut to four.

The Soviets were favorites to take many of today's 12 golds.

Track and field, now in its second day of competition, led the parade with seven titles. They included the men's pole vault, shot put, and 1,500 meters and the women's broad jump, discus, 100 meters hurdles and pentathlon.

The Soviets were given excellent chances to win the 1,500 meters, pentathlon and the hurdles. The Americans had no big name in any of the seven events.

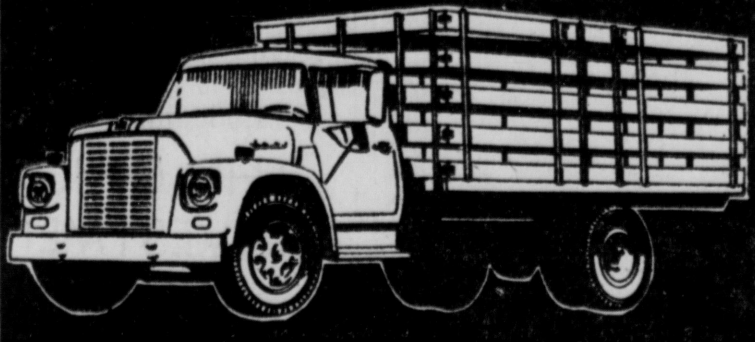

Eastern European athletes were expected to dominate the other events.

The Americans were given a remote chance only in the men's gymnastics but it was likely they would end the day stuck at 19 golds.

ABA-NBA Stars Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Players from the NBA and ABA play a charity basketball game tonight at St. John's University. Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets and Spencer Haywood of the Denver Rockets are among the stars scheduled to play.

Central State Foundation Eyed By IRS

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) —The Internal Revenue Service says a Central State University foundation has not been making tax reports and the IRS—along with two Central State trustees—wants to know why.

IRS officials in Cincinnati and Philadelphia said the foundation — an independent nonprofit corporation — has not filed tax returns since it was organized by university trustees and administrators in October, 1968.

The IRS is threatening the association with loss of its tax-exempt status if it does not file a report immediately.

The two trustees, Dr. Dwight M. Pemberton and Dr. Carl Jenkins, both of Springfield, said they have been refused public information on the foundation's financial dealings.

The foundation's articles of incorporation hold it legally accountable to the university board of trustees and require it to submit annual public reports.

University President Dr. Herman R. Branson, a member of the foundation's board of governors, said reports have been made to the board and promised a report to trustees soon, possibly when they meet Sunday before commencement.

The nonprofit foundation owns and operates a 50-unit apartment near the CSU campus for faculty and staff members.

The foundation bought the apartment building in 1968 for $695,000—$300,000 from private sources and $395,000 from a trust loan covered by the Cleveland Trust Bank. John Bustamonte, former trustee chairman at CSU was instrumental in setting up the loan. He was an attorney for Cleveland Trust at the time.

New Reading Program Set At Westfall

Funds have been received for a new Developmental Reading Program for elementary and junior high students in the Westfall school district.

An estimated 200 students — 50 from each elementary school — will benefit from the program which strives to advance the pupil which is working below his level. One teacher and one aide in Jackson, Darby, Monroe and Williamsport schools will work with these students five at a time for half-hour classes each day.

Heading the program for the district is Mrs. Gwyn Linville. A similar program was instituted in the district several years ago on a summer catch-up basis.

With the $46,535 in federal funds approved recently by the Ohio State Department of Education, the program is scheduled for youths in grades two through eight. All the money was allocated under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Act recently passed by Congress. The grant involves no local tax monies.

STUDENTS in the four schools will be given group and individualized instruction in a reading lab. They will spend approximately 2½ hours a week for as long as they have need to be involved in this work.

Special emphasis is placed upon students who are underachieving.

Monies have been made available by the federal government to completely refurbish one classroom in each elementary building plus the installation and replacement of window shades, lighting fixtures and furniture suitable for the program.

2 Men Charged In Bat Beating Of Cleveland Man

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men were to appear in Cleveland Municipal Court today on charges of aggravated assault in the baseball bat beating of controversial black community leader Baxter Hill.

Hill, a former staff member of the Community Relations Board, said the attack on him occurred during a meeting Tuesday at board offices in downtown Cleveland.

Charged were Larry Steele, 28, of Oakwood Village, and Ronald Grier, 40, of East Cleveland.

Hill, who heads a black militant organization called Price, Inc., said he had fired the men from the organization and said the matter was an internal problem.

Amanda Plans Holiday Fete

"Heroes" is the parade theme for Amanda's annual Labor Day celebration Monday.

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. featuring beauty queen candidates — both mini and miss, floats, a precision drill team from Fairfield School for Boys, the Adelphi Concert Band, other marching and musical groups, decorated bikes and clowns.

Judging for Little Miss Labor Day will follow the parade in the Amanda-Clearcreek high school gymnasium. The senior queen title will be awarded following a judging at 6 p.m. in the gym.

The Labor Day festival is sponsored annually by members of the Amanda-Clearcreek Athletic Boosters. The celebration is held on the grounds of the high school.

Other activities include a pumpkin pie and cake baking contest, at 9 a.m. and barbecue chicken dinners which will be served beginning 11 a.m. along with sandwiches, noodle soup, pie and other foods, all homemade.

Slated for afternoon entertainment are Little League baseball games from noon on. A horseshoe tournament begins at 1 p.m., a pony pull at 1:30 and baton twirling contest beginning 2 p.m. State Representative Don Maddux will make a personal appearance during the afternoon.

Activities will continue into the evening, ending with a teen dance from 8 to 11 p.m. featuring the "The Leaves."

couple of giant Saturn 5 moon rockets.

These launch vehicles, costing $185 million each, will become a part of "a national resource of heavy lift rocket capability," NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine told a news conference Wednesday.

Secondly, some mighty disappointed astronauts—including six who would have taken a moon flight on the Apollo 15 and 19 missions, now cancelled for budgetary reason—will have to be reassigned.

"The astronauts have been very unhappy, along with the scientific community, about the reductions in flights over the past several years," said Dale Myers, associate administrator for manned space flight.

"Many of these men have dedicated themselves to development of the space shuttle."

There are 49 on the astronaut rolls. The U.S. has launched 26 of its astronauts on space trips, some two or three times, and one, James Lovell, four times.

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden, Jr., and James B. Irwin had been assigned to Apollo 15, the mission now cancelled.

NASA also must now revise its list of moon landing sites.

"We still need to get to the lunar highlands, the rill areas, and we still must get a wide variety geologically to make sure of our passive seismic network," said Dr. John W. Findlay, chairman of the Lunar and Planetary Mission Board.

Instead of the Apollo 15 spacecraft with its limited lunar stay and lunar orbit capability, an advanced version including a lunar rover vehicle will be used, and thus another Apollo 15 step must be selected, Findlay said.

Paine said NASA intends to do everything possible to include a scientist astronaut on at least one mission.

Myers said there are no plans to reduce the size of the astronaut team.

He said NASA is running some "master facilities" studies to determine suitable locations for space shuttle work.

The space shuttle will be a vehicle that takes off rocket-like but returns to earth like an airplane. A part of the shuttle will separate from the launching craft, in orbit, to carry astronaut crews to and from the three-man orbiting Skylabs.

The Apollo outback will have a special effect on Cape Kennedy, Fla. NASA said manpower at Kennedy Space Center will drop from the 15,500 level in 1973 when the Skylab program is due to end.

Myers said the agency will attempt to use Kennedy personnel to develop and support future programs.

After Skylab, no more manned flights are scheduled from the Cape. The earliest possible launch date for the space shuttle is 1976.

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) —The Internal Revenue Service says a Central State University foundation has not been making tax reports and the IRS—along with two Central State trustees—wants to know why.

IRS officials in Cincinnati and Philadelphia said the foundation — an independent nonprofit corporation — has not filed tax returns since it was organized by university trustees and administrators in October, 1968.

The IRS is threatening the association with loss of its tax-exempt status if it does not file a report immediately.

The two trustees, Dr. Dwight M. Pemberton and Dr. Carl Jenkins, both of Springfield, said they have been refused public information on the foundation's financial dealings.

The foundation's articles of incorporation hold it legally accountable to the university board of trustees and require it to submit annual public reports.

University President Dr. Herman R. Branson, a member of the foundation's board of governors, said reports have been made to the board and promised a report to trustees soon, possibly when they meet Sunday before commencement.

The nonprofit foundation owns and operates a 50-unit apartment near the CSU campus for faculty and staff members.

The foundation bought the apartment building in 1968 for $695,000—$300,000 from private sources and $395,000 from a trust loan covered by the Cleveland Trust Bank. John Bustamonte, former trustee chairman at CSU, was instrumental in setting up the loan. He was an attorney for Cleveland Trust at the time.

New Reading Program Set At Westfall

Funds have been received for a new Developmental Reading Program for elementary and junior high students in the Westfall school district.

An estimated 200 students — 50 from each elementary school — will benefit from the program which strives to advance the pupil which is working below his level. One teacher and one aide in Jackson, Darby, Monroe and Williamsport schools will work with these students five at a time for half-hour classes each day.

Heading the program for the district is Mrs. Gwyn Linville. A similar program was instituted in the district several years ago on a summer catch-up basis.

With the $48,535 in federal funds approved recently by the Ohio State Department of Education, the program is scheduled for youths in grades two through eight. All the money was allocated under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Act recently passed by Congress. The grant involves no local tax monies.

STUDENTS in the four schools will be given group and individualized instruction in a reading lab. They will spend approximately 2½ hours a week for as long as they have need to be involved in this work.

Special emphasis is placed upon students who are underachieving.

Monies have been made available by the federal government to completely refurbish one classroom in each elementary building plus the installation and replacement of window shades, lighting fixtures and furniture suitable for the program.

2 Men Charged In Bat Beating Of Cleveland Man

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two men were to appear in Cleveland Municipal Court today on charges of aggravated assault in the baseball bat beating of controversial black community leader Baxter Hill.

Hill, a former staff member of the Community Relations Board, said the attack on him occurred during a meeting Tuesday at board offices in downtown Cleveland.

Charged were Larry Stele, 26, of Oakwood Village, and Ronald Grier, 40, of East Cleveland.

Hill, who heads a black militant organization called Pride, Inc., said he had fired the men from the organization and said the matter was an internal problem.

NASA Faces Readjustment As Moon Trips Are Slashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision to eliminate two Apollo moon missions confronted the National Aeronautics and Space Administration today with a series of readjustments today. Four lunar flights remain.

Amanda Plans Holiday Fete

"Heroes" is the parade theme for Amanda's annual Labor Day celebration Monday.

The parade will begin at 10 a.m. featuring beauty queen candidates — both mini and miss, floats, a precision drill team from Fairfield School for Boys, the Adelphi Concert Band, other marching and musical groups, decorated bikes and clowns.

Judging for Little Miss Labor Day will follow the parade in the Amanda-Clearcreek high school gymnasium. The senior queen title will be awarded following a judging at 6 p.m. in the gym.

The Labor Day festival is sponsored annually by members of the Amanda-Clearcreek Athletic Boosters. The celebration is held on the grounds of the high school.

Other activities include a pumpkin pie and cake baking contest, at 9 a.m., and barbecue chicken dinners which will be served beginning 11 a.m. along with sandwiches, noodle soup, pie and other foods, all homemade.

Slated for afternoon entertainment are Little League baseball games from noon on. A horseshoe tournament begins at 1 p.m., a pony pull at 1:30 and baton twirling contest beginning 2 p.m. State Representative Don Maddux will make a personal appearance during the afternoon.

Activities will continue into the evening, ending with a teen dance from 8 to 11 p.m. featuring the "The Leaves."

couple of giant Saturn 5 moon rockets.

These launch vehicles, costing $185 million each, will become a part of "a national resource of heavy lift rocket capability," NASA administrator Thomas O. Paine told a news conference Wednesday.

Secondly, some mighty disappointed astronauts—including six who would have taken a moon flight on the Apollo 15 and 19 missions, now cancelled for budgetary reason—will have to be reassigned.

"The astronauts have been very unhappy, along with the scientific community, about the reductions in flights over the past several years," said Dale Myers, associate administrator for manned space flight.

"Many of these men have dedicated themselves to development of the space shuttle." There are 49 on the astronaut rolls. The U.S. has launched 26 of its astronauts on space trips, some two or three times, and one, James Lovell, four times.

Astronauts David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden, Jr., and James B. Irwin had been assigned to Apollo 15, the mission now cancelled.

NASA also must now revise its list of moon landing sites.

"We still need to get to the lunar highlands, the rill areas, and we still must get a wide variety geologically to make sure of our passive seismic network," said Dr. John W. Findlay, chairman of the Lunar and Planetary Mission Board.

Instead of the Apollo 15 spacecraft with its limited lunar stay and lunar orbit capability, an advanced version including a lunar rover vehicle will be used, and thus another Apollo 15 step must be selected, Findlay said.

Paine said NASA intends to do everything possible to include a scientist astronaut on at least one mission.

Myers said there are no plans to reduce the size of the astronaut team.

He said NASA is running some "master facilities" studies to determine suitable locations for space shuttle work.

The space shuttle will be a vehicle that takes off rocket-like but returns to earth like an airplane. A part of the shuttle will separate from the launching craft, in orbit, to carry astronaut crews to and from the three-man orbiting Skylabs.

The Apollo cutback will have a special effect on Cape Kennedy, Fla. NASA said manpower at Kennedy Space Center will drop from the 15,500 level in 1973 when the Skylab program is due to end.

Myers said the agency will attempt to use Kennedy personnel to develop and support future programs.

After Skylab, no more manned flights are scheduled from the Cape. The earliest possible launch date for the space shuttle is 1976.
